Doukhobors To Be Divided Among Prisons

PETER VEREGIN GIVEN SENTENCE OF THREE YEARS

Finding of Accommodation in Penitentiaries For 84 Sons of Freedom and 34 Doukhobor Women Sentenced Yesterday at Nelson Is Task For Dominion Officials

POLICE AT NELSON JAIL CARRY SHOTGUNS

To-day's developments in Doukhobor cases: Peter Veregin, leader, sentenced at Yorkton, Sask., to serve three years. Dominion officials arranging accommodations at two or more penitentiaries for the 118 Sons and Daughters of Freedom sentenced at Nelson yesterday afternoon to three years.

Canadian Press. Yorkton, Sask., May 6.—Peter Veregin, spiritual and business head of the 15,000 Doukhobor colonists in Canada, was sentenced to three years in the Prince Albert penitentiary by Mr. Justice D. Maclean in King's Bench Court here this morning. He was convicted of perjury by a jury yesterday.

Before the judge passed sentence, A. A. Patrick, K.C., chief defence counsel, made a plea for leniency, stating the Doukhobor people particularly needed their leader at this time. He made reference to seedling operations. Justice Maclean replied at length, stating the verdict of guilty on the one charge was justified. The offence had been deliberate and he was unable to treat it lightly.

TO REGINA JAIL. Veregin is to be taken to the Regina jail, where he will be kept thirty days, during which he may lodge an appeal. Veregin, holding virtually supreme power over the Doukhobors of British Columbia, Saskatchewan and Manitoba, was the 118th of his sect to be given a three-year prison term within twenty-four hours.

Yesterday afternoon 118 Doukhobors were sentenced at Nelson, B.C., after pleading guilty to taking part in nutcracker parades.

DIG CROWD THERE

A large crowd of his followers heard Veregin sentenced here. The courtroom was packed with Doukhobors who had come from all parts of the province for the trial, which started Wednesday morning and ended with Veregin's conviction yesterday afternoon.

More than 1,000 members of the sect are in this town. A strong police guard has been standing in readiness for disturbances, which, so far, have failed to materialize. Veregin was convicted of swearing falsely at the preliminary hearing last January of George Chutskoff, an independent Doukhobor, on a perjury charge. Evidence was given by a doctor and nurse to disprove Veregin's sworn statement that he was in British Columbia for several months prior to March, 1929. These witnesses said they had attended the Doukhobor leader in the late fall of 1928, in Saskatchewan. Chutskoff, who broke away several years ago from the Christian Community of Universal Brotherhood, of which Veregin is president, was charged by Veregin with perjury in connection with the case of George Chutskoff, but the charge was dismissed three days ago.

JOBLESS REJECT CAMP SCHEME

Men Who Went to Vancouver Say They Will Stay There

Canadian Press. Vancouver, May 6.—Approximately 700 men who recently left provincial work camps and came to Vancouver have decided not to return to the interior establishments, according to information given by a delegation claiming to represent the men. When these men left the camps the city asked them to return. Provincial officials, however, said they would not be allowed back. On Wednesday afternoon, delegates met Mayor Louis D. Taylor and Hon. R. W. Bruhn, Minister of Public Works, and were told they would be allowed to return if they left the city by Saturday morning at the latest. In the meantime, they were supplied with bed and meal tickets, good until Friday evening. Yesterday afternoon, however, they held a meeting and decided to insist on a wage of 50 cents an hour for work in the camps. They communicated this proposal to provincial officials, and were told it was an impossible request. The same reply was later given to Mayor Louis D. Taylor.

WHOLESALE HAVES SCHEME

Ask Import Privilege From Uninfected Regions of Four U.S. States Under Embargo

Prices Rise as Result of Vegetable Shortage; Local Farmers Urging Crops

British Columbia importers and wholesalers here and in Vancouver are pressing Ottawa, Washington, D.C., and state officials to sanction a scheme designed to overcome the present vegetable shortage caused by the embargo placed by the livestock branch of the Dominion Government on imports of ground-grown produce from the states of California, Arizona, Nevada and Oregon. An outbreak of foot and mouth disease in sections of these four states necessitated the step last week in order that British Columbia livestock might not become infected through contact with contaminated imported food. It is pointed out that the disease carries no danger for human beings, otherwise the embargo would have been placed by the health department of the government.

WOULD MAKE EXCEPTIONS

The scheme advanced by the British Columbia jobbers would allow imports from uninfected sections of the four states provided proper precautions were taken in packing, shipping and general handling. The jobbers feel there must be parts of the states producing all the ground-grown produce ordinarily imported and which have not been touched by the foot and mouth disease. No definite action regarding the scheme has yet been promised by the authorities, but there is hope of steps being taken to relieve the threatened shortage of vegetables and strawberries.

A practical instance in which the scheme would work wholesalers point out, is in the case of Shafter new white potatoes, grown near Sacramento, Cal., and just about ready for shipment now. The area is believed free of foot and mouth infection and wholesalers see no reason why the potatoes should not be allowed entry into British Columbia. "The embargo has affected what little produce we had in store by sending prices higher than would normally be," said a wholesaler to-day. "It has also cut down our volume of business by at least a quarter."

"We Are Fifteen," Sing Mr. and Mrs. Buxton

Friends of ex-Work Point sergeant claim he has the thirteen brightest children on the island but at that it does not appear to be the "Double-figure family" record. "I will tell you about a family of twenty-two to-morrow," a lady promises.

CARRYING out the promise he made over the telephone Sergeant Percy H. Buxton, whose friends telephoned The Times to say he was the father of the largest family in Victoria district, called in the office to-day to give the particulars of his family of thirteen.

"I would like to congratulate Mr. and Mrs. William Stephenson, who started this discussion when you published the picture of the family of twelve including the mother and father," he remarked, "but that's only a small family."

"We have fifteen. There's mother and I and thirteen youngsters. Here's the list: Phoebe, Leslie, Kenneth, Doris, William, Frederick, Phyllis, Hazel, Jimmie, Dick, Patricia, Frankie and David. Have you got that down, Count 'em. Thirteen?" That's right.

"See if there is a family larger than that around here," Mr. Buxton said with pride.

"Have you got a family picture?" Mr. Buxton was asked. "Not just yet," he replied. "I'll bring you a picture later that will surprise you," he said, with an enigmatic smile. He refused to have the group picture taken at the present time. Mr. Buxton is forty-four. His wife is forty-three. After a long and creditable army record which started with two years service in England after which he transferred to the Canadian artillery, Mr. Buxton has retired on a pension with an array of war ribbons and other decorations. He used to be a star football player. "Every one is a healthy youngster and most of them have inherited their mother's good looks," Mr. Buxton said in telling of his family. The eldest is twenty-one and the youngest fourteen months. Leslie and Dick were prize winners in baby shows. All the boys are boxers. Leslie, fighting as "Sonny" Buxton, has a good professional record. Billy, weighing sixty-four pounds, beat a lad of seventy-nine pounds for the island boxing championship. "I'm leaving a challenge to any boy in his weight to meet Billy," his dad said. Leslie has been in the army for six years and Ken for six months. All the lads are going to follow in father's footsteps and lead a military life. Each member of the Buxton family has their duties to perform and through perfect home discipline and affection Mr. and Mrs. Buxton are credited not only with one of the largest or perhaps the largest family in Victoria district, but also with the brightest. But within ten minutes after Mr. Buxton had left another subscriber had telephoned. "That double-figure family of ten is no record," she said. "I will bring you down a picture of one much larger." The picture had not arrived up to the time of going to press. Another subscriber promised information about a family of twenty-two in time for to-morrow's paper.

ASKS ABOUT THREE ARRESTS

J. S. WOODSWORTH, M.P.

Canadian Press. Ottawa, May 6.—Under the provisions of the Immigration Act, a duty devolves on the minister to see that people who are in Canada—and who have no right to be here—are investigated. Hon. W. A. Gordon, Minister of Immigration, declared in the Commons to-day. He was answering a question put by James S. Woodsword, Labor, Winnipeg North Centre. The labor member had requested Mr. Gordon to make a statement in connection with the arrest and possible deportation of the three men arrested in Winnipeg on Wednesday. On whose authority were these men arrested, and what were the charges against them? Mr. Woodsword recalled that the Immigration Act provided for the setting up of a board of inquiry to investigate the legality or illegality of persons who had come to this country. If they were found to be undesirable, he continued, and had no right to be here, the act required them to be returned to their country of origin. To this end, he said, the government was taking steps. (Turn to Page 2, Col. 2)

SHOW CLOSED IN VANCOUVER NEW CABINET FOR AUSTRIA

Vancouver, May 6.—"Easy for Zee Zee," a production which has been showing at the Vancouver Theatre this week, was closed yesterday evening by City License Inspector H. A. Urquhart. As a result of complaints against the performance, Inspector Urquhart visited the theatre Wednesday evening. On the following day he and Police Chief Edgett notified the management, that unless the nature of the show was altered it would have to close. The management agreed to make a number of deletions, and implemented the promises yesterday evening. The license inspector again viewed the performance yesterday evening, but despite the changes, he decided to shut the show.

Japan Shanghai Troops Withdraw

Associated Press. Shanghai, May 6.—The vanguard of what remains of the powerful Japanese army at Shanghai, estimated at 30,000 men, to-day began evacuating the area about the city from which it drove the Chinese in the last battle of the "war." The evacuation, which is in accordance with the truce agreement signed yesterday by Japanese and Chinese officials, is slated to continue increasingly each day until the entire Japanese force has retired to the areas assigned to it under the truce.

ROYAL CITY HAS ITS MAY DAY

Canadian Press. New Westminster, May 6.—Firing of an aerial bomb at 8:30 a.m., announced the sixty-second annual celebration of May Day here would take place this afternoon as planned. The parade commenced at 1 o'clock at Eighth and Carnarvon Streets, and the crowning of Queen Christine Macdonald took place in the Queen's Park stadium at 2 o'clock. Many visitors from points in the Fraser Valley and Vancouver arrived.

Big Loss Caused By Pier Fire In New York

Damage Estimated at More Than $2,000,000 When Flames Sweep Great Cunard Wharf

Canadian Press. New York, May 6.—Damage estimated at more than $2,000,000 was done at the giant Cunard Line pier at Thirtieth Street, on the Hudson River, to-day by a fire which at first seemed so trifling that its discoverers did not even bother to turn in an alarm. Approximately 150 firemen were overcome by smoke and more than eight hours after the fire began it was still out of control and spreading despite all efforts of one of the largest fire fighting armies called out in years. STARTED IN RUBBISH. The fire started in rubbish under Pier 54, a steel and concrete structure extending 1,000 feet into the Hudson. By noon the flames were creeping steadily along the crooked-sloped piling on which the river piers rest toward the nearby pier at Twelfth Street and had advanced through a wall of water to ignite an adjoining two-story office building. Besides dozens of pieces of land apparatus, five fireboats poured thousands of gallons of water on the flames from the river.

Personnel of the board, as confirmed by order-in-council, is: Herbert Mackin, W. Page Powell and E. O. Cornish of Vancouver; T. H. Rand and A. S. Arkley, also of Vancouver, are appointed to assist the board as and when their services may be needed. Application for inspection of parcels of canned salmon before shipment must be made by canneries to the Department of Fisheries and Forestry. Regulations governing inspection call for a minimum of twelve cases to be withdrawn from parcels up to 100 cases, with a sliding scale of withdrawal for larger parcels. One or more cans from each case thus withdrawn will be opened for inspection. TWO GRADES. Parcels approved as being fresh, firm and well packed will receive the Department of Fisheries seal, which signifies the goods are of first quality. Parcels which do not come up to this standard of requirement, but which are sound, wholesome and fit for human food, will be labelled "second quality," but will receive no certificate. Canned salmon which is found after reconditioning and re-examination to be up to second quality will be confiscated and either used for purposes other than human food or destroyed. Inspection of canned salmon has been brought about chiefly at the request of the industry in general. It is the result of an increasing realization of the necessity to raise the standard of the Canadian pack, to protect established markets and to aid in developing other outlets in competition with foreign canned salmon.

COALITION WINS HOUSE VOTE

Canadian Press Cable. Wellington, N.Z., May 6.—An attempt to defeat the National Coalition Government by an unexpected vote of no confidence proposed by the Labor leader in the House of Representatives this evening resulted in a government victory, the vote being 49 to 27. The vote came during debate on the finance bill.

JURORS FAIL AT VERDICT

Unable to Agree After Hearing Evidence in Robinson Case in Vancouver

Canadian Press. Vancouver, May 6.—Failing to reach a verdict after deliberating nearly twenty-four hours on the case of Earl E. Robinson, forty-six, former police court clerk, charged with stealing $17,177 from the City of Vancouver, an Assize Court jury of eleven men and a woman was discharged at 12:30 this afternoon by Mr. Justice Fisher. The jurors had been locked up overnight under provincial police guard. The jury, it was learned, on the final ballot this morning divided eight to four for acquittal. Yesterday evening they stood seven to five for acquittal. "We cannot reach an agreement," the foreman announced at noon. Prosecutor A. H. MacNeill, K.C., applied to have the case traversed to the fall-sitting, opening here September 19, but Gordon Winsler, defence counsel, protested, but agreed to speak to the application later, after consulting Robinson.

Five Wives Locked In Truck Travel With Kashmir Maharajah

Victorians in unusual numbers flocked last week to hear Capt. John Noel, F.R.G.S., give his lecture on the Mt. Everest expedition and Kashmir and see his remarkable pictures. More facts regarding the Maharajah of Kashmir have just been reported by mail from Gordon Sinclair, the Toronto Daily Star correspondent, now in India. He happened to have the advantage of close observation of the Maharajah's domestic establishment while on his tour. In his article, printed in the Saturday Magazine Section of The Victoria Times to-morrow, he tells how five wives in a locked truck travel with their lord and master and how they live.

Other features of the Saturday Magazine Section will include: How Uncle Sam dropped $200,000,000 of taxpayers' hard-earned money in grain and cotton markets, leaving the farmers worse off than before. ## Doctors Operate to Save Life of 75-year-old Head of French Republic, Shot By Paul Gougoloff While Visiting Exhibition of Books

ASSAILANT IS HELD BY THE POLICE. Gougoloff Says He Shot President Because France Did Not Intervene in Russia Against Bolsheviks. Canadian Press and Associated Press Dispatches. Paris, May 6.—At 8:30 o'clock this evening President Doumer, shot four times this morning by a Russian, Paul Gougoloff, underwent a third blood transfusion. Loss of blood from a severed artery under one of his arms was causing the doctors considerable concern. Paris, May 6.—Dr. Gosset performed a trepanning operation on President Doumer shortly before 6 o'clock this evening. At 6:45 o'clock the senior surgeons attending the wounded President left the hospital after pronouncing his condition "satisfactory." The President's nephew said the patient's chances now were largely a matter of his advanced age, since a vital spot had been struck. He said his uncle had shown some improvement in the last two hours. SHOT FOUR TIMES. Paris, May 6.—President Paul Doumer, white-bearded seventy-five-year-old head of the French Republic, was shot four times and desperately wounded to-day by an assassin as he opened an exhibition of books by war veterans. He had come from the Elysee Palace with Claude Farrere, the noted author. Together they entered the grand hall of the Baron de Rothschild Foundation near the Champs Elysees. M. Farrere walked with him up the grand staircase, where the president paused to sign a copy of a book by a contemporary author. Then he moved over to a table and stood talking with M. Farrere and Madame Farrere. Suddenly the man sprang, seemingly out of nowhere, leveled a pistol at the President and fired five times. M. Doumer's knees crumpled. He sank to the floor. There were bullets in the front of the head, in the head behind the ear and in the chest. GRAPPLED WITH CRIMINAL. M. Farrere sprang forward. The would-be assassin's pistol was still smoking in his hand. He raised it and fired. M. Farrere stopped with a bullet in the arm, but lunged forward again and grappled with the man. Paul Gougoloff, director of the Paris police, ran forward. The assailant fired again. The bullet struck M. Guichard in the arm. At that time a dozen police had surrounded the man and a crowd gathered about them. As the crowd grew it became an infuriated mob. The police had the greatest difficulty protecting the President. At last they got him away. At police headquarters they identified him as Paul Gougoloff, a Russian physician. They knew the phrase "die for the fatherland" someone heard him shout as he fired: "Die for the Fatherland!" RUSHED TO HOSPITAL. Meanwhile, back in the exhibition room, M. Farrere and others bent over the President. He was already nearly unconscious, but he mumbled a few incoherent words as they lifted him, placed him on a stretcher and carried him to the Beauguon Hospital. The doctors there performed an operation immediately and there was a blood transfusion. It is impossible at this stage of the developments to get all the facts straight, but there were reports the President had died; that he was dying, and that his wounds were not so serious as had been thought at first. BRAIN NOT PENETRATED. One of the surgeons, Dr. Gosset, said he had examined the President and had discovered none of the bullets had penetrated the brain, and he said he expected M. Doumer to recover. One of those who were first to reach the President's side said afterward he had heard M. Doumer whisper: "Pas possible." In English, it would be: "This seems impossible." From police headquarters came word that when officers searched the would-be assassin they found in his pocket a notebook with the phrase "die for the fatherland" printed in pencil in letters an inch high. "This day I killed the President of the French Republic." Premier Andre Tardieu was the first man to reach the hospital after the news had gone about. Former Premier J. J. Caillaux came soon afterward, and then there was a stream of distinguished personages. MME. DOUMER AT BEDSIDE. Madame Doumer, who gave four sons to France in the Great War, was grief-stricken when she reached the bedside. (Turn to Page 2, Col. 4) proper steps would be taken in the present instance.

"No change had taken place in the statute, or in operation, Mr. Gordon added.

Supplementing his first question, Mr. Woodworth declared one of the men had been in Canada for nearly forty years, while another had a Canadian wife and child. He insisted Mr. Gordon reply specifically to the two points as to the authority for arresting them and the charges laid against them.

The men were not arrested, the minister replied. They would come before a board of inquiry. If it was found they were here in contravention of the Canadian law, they would be dealt with accordingly. His duty, Mr. Gordon declared, was to see the statute was fully and fairly administered.

PRY OF TRIAL

"Where are these men to be tried—at Halifax or Winnipeg?" demanded J. L. Brown, Liberal, Lisgar, Man. At Winnipeg they would be given an opportunity for a fair trial which, he intimated, was impossible if they should be sent to a seaport 2,000 miles from where they had been arrested.

The transferring of the men to Halifax was not a departure from established practice, the minister replied. If the men were illegally in Canada the nearest and most convenient port to their country or origin was selected to hold the inquiry. He added he would give fuller information on the matter on Monday.

EXPECT PROVINCIAL ELECTION IN FALL

said, and suggested there might be many changes during the next year. While no indication is made of the nature of the changes, which the Premier referred to, the opinion is voiced that the government leader plans to carry out the changes it has been reported will be made in the cabinet before he appeals to the country.

HARBINGERS OF CONTENT

The redistribution bill and the changes in the Elections Act regarding the registration of voters were pointed to this morning as forerunners of an election. Although Premier Toine, himself, may not have plans for an election this year some of his cabinet, it is claimed, anticipate an appeal to the country will be demanded by members of the party. Hopes of the P.C.E. side proving a favorable issue for an election are not now as bright as it was hoped they would be, and attention is being turned to the Imperial Conference, out of which it is anticipated there will develop some feature which would prove a popular cry from a Conservative viewpoint even though it may not be especially applicable to British Columbia.

NO COALITION

As T. D. Pattullo, Liberal leader, made it very clear in the Legislature that his party has no intention of linking hands with the Conservatives in forming a coalition government, Premier Toine made it plain yesterday that the Conservatives also had no such intentions now.

"I can't see how it will do any good," he said, "in 1928 the people said they did not want any more of Duff Pattullo. I cannot see how a third party will be an improvement on the present parties."

The Premier also pointed with pride to the fact that no Conservative seat had been lost since 1928, but against this Liberals point to the Columbia by-election in which, although the government did not lose a seat, the government candidate was defeated by an overwhelming majority, the seat afterwards being wiped out by the redistribution of the seats.

A CHALLENGE

In his Vancouver speech Premier Toine challenged the Liberals to compare the record of Mr. Pattullo with that of the present government.

Answering the charge that he had employed his own relations in the government service he offered to pay a "substantial sum" to any person, who could prove that he had.

He declared that any recommendation received from the present independent committee investigating government finance would be accepted as advisory. The government, he emphasized, has no power, or desire, to delegate its powers to such a body.

The Premier was emphatic in his statement that persons sent to the land under any scheme should be not only "land minded," but "land fit."

Premier Toine compared the handling of the present unemployment conditions with that of the Liberal government in 1921 and maintained that British Columbia had been slapped in this respect in many places.

NEW CIVIL SERVICE BOARD

Ottawa Journal Says Commons Committee Makes Several Recommendations

Gratuity For Chairman Roche Said to Be Suggested

Canadian Press
Ottawa, May 6.—The Ottawa Journal to-day published the following: "Recommendations that Civil Service Commissioners J. Emile Tremblay and Dr. Newton MacTavish be dismissed and Hon. W. J. Roche, chairman, be retired with a gratuity will be contained in the report of the special parliamentary committee investigating the administration of the Civil Service Act."

The findings of the committee are as follows, according to The Journal: "(1) That the three civil service commissioners be dismissed (Dr. Roche with honor), and be replaced by two or three new commissioners, one a French Canadian.

"(2) That all post-offices whose revenue is under $3,000 a year be taken from the jurisdiction of the Civil Service Commission and the appointment therein made by the Postmaster-General.

MERIT SYSTEM

"(3) That the merit system be upheld.

"(4) That Charles H. Bland, assistant secretary and chief examiner of the Civil Service Commission, is a highly efficient official and his work should be brought to the attention of the House of Commons.

"(5) As the Beauty Commission is investigating salaries, the question of salaries to the professional and technical men is not discussed."

No mention is made of William Foran, secretary of the commission. The report is said to recommend Dr. Roche be retired with honor and that a gratuity be voted to him for his "faithful and loyal service." The report states he is being retired "only on account of age."

The committee is holding its final session this afternoon.

French President, Shot, Fights For Life

As the evening wore on and a crowd pressed about the hospital bits of news trickled out.

The doctors disclosed that after the emergency operation, the patient had rallied slightly.

"Ca va," he murmured, the doctors said. "That means 'I am all right.'"

The police, hammering at Gougouloff, learned he had come to Paris from Moscow on Wednesday night especially to commit the crime.

He was born a Cossack, he told them, and two years ago formed what he called the Society of Russian Fascists.

He had shot President Doumer, he confessed, because he wanted revenge for the French refusal to intervene in Russia against the Bolsheviks.

By George Hamilton, Canadian Press Staff Writer.

Paris, May 6.—The attack on President Paul Doumer to-day swept France with a thrill like a declaration of war. The shooting of the venerable President of the republic by a so-called Russian "fascist" left the President in a critical condition, stilled all thoughts of politics, although the vital second ballot of the general election will be held Sunday.

Crowds, stunned and almost incredulous, were gathered in the streets this evening, discussing the latest reports from the hospital where the President already had undergone a trepanning operation for his head wounds, and two blood transfusions. The newsmen were besieged with demands for rapidly succeeding editions which never sufficed. Stores selling radio apparatus were jammed to the doors with people listening to the latest medical bulletins.

Paul, Doumer, distinguished white-bearded statesman who has served his country for many years in the field of politics, became President of the Republic last May.

His closest competitor was the late Aristide Briand, the "Man of Peace."

Mr. Doumer, at seventy-four, was elected thirteenth President of France. It was the second time he had been a candidate. In 1906 he ran against Armand Fallieres, President of the Republic.

Mr. Doumer had a humble beginning in life. His father was a section boss on a railroad. He died when the future President was a boy and it was a struggle to attain an education, for he had to leave grammar school at fourteen, to help support his widowed mother.

He laid the foundations for his political career in newspaper work. When he became interested in politics he specialized in finance and became Minister of Finance in 1908.

Subsequently, for seven strenuous years, he was Governor-General of Indo-China, and on his return from that faraway post was re-elected to the Chamber of Deputies. Three years later he became President of the Lower House. He held that office when Mr. Fallieres, then President of the Senate, defeated him for the presidency of the Republic.

Mr. Doumer's heaviest sorrow came in the Great War. Three of his five sons were killed in battle and a fourth died of his wounds soon after the Armistice.

During the war Mr. Doumer was a busy man in several minor government posts, although in 1917 he was minister without portfolio in the Painleve cabinet, which was overthrown by Georges Clemenceau.

In 1921 Aristide Briand, then President of the Senate, became President of the Republic.

mier, made him Minister of Finance. Six years later he became President of the Senate.

M. Doumer was born at Aurillac, Cantal, March 22, 1857.

Describing how M. Doumer departed from precedents set by Presidents, M. Doumer recently wrote an article for the NEA Service which read, in part, as follows:

Paris—The "Prisoner of the Elysee" has broken his bonds. He has passed sentences, scorned armed guards, and crashed through tradition, just to have some personal liberty.

He is Paul Doumer, seventy-five-year-old President of the Republic. He took office only last June, and although he began at once to brighten up the palace with social activities, he has already shown he has no intention of being confined to official functions, but is determined to get away at times from all the fuss and fanfare and enjoy the companionship of his old friends as an ordinary citizen.

This is rather revolutionary. The President of France has always been expected to follow the strict regulations laid down by the protocol in travelling. A President was accompanied by at least two cabinet ministers, a military escort, and a few favored journalists and photographers. If he went anywhere in Paris his presence was generally known by the flare of the Republican Guards.

INNOVATIVE VISITS

President Doumer, despite his venerable age, goes places and does things his predecessors looked on as out of order during the allotted seven-year term of office. While he was officially in residence at the Chateau de Rambouillet, the presidential home, he left the premises for a series of incognito visits to friends in various parts of France. He was the guest of M. Clemenceau, a former cabinet minister, at his country home in Auvergne.

Doukhobors about the provincial jail, mostly women, some stationed at the front and some at the rear of the buildings. For the first time provincial police were guarding the buildings and carrying shotguns to prevent any possible jail break or efforts of outside Doukhobors to get into the yard.

PUTTING UP LIGHTS

Arrangements also were under way for the erection of flood lights on the jail buildings to make it possible for the guards to continue their night work without trouble.

The Doukhobors sentenced yesterday afternoon will remain in the local provincial jail for thirty days. Where they will finally be sent is not known locally. It is anticipated the destination of the prisoners will not be decided on for some time and that when they are moved the strictest secrecy will be practiced.

At present the jail here is taxed to capacity.

WARNING GIVEN

It was following a sharp warning that further breaches of the law would not be tolerated in British Columbia, served on the Doukhobors of this district, patrolling the area to prevent further nude parades.

Perhaps the speediest justice ever given in a Canadian court was meted out here yesterday when 118 members of the Sons of Freedom sect were sentenced to a total of 354 years in penitentiary within a space of 120 minutes.

ALLOWED TO PASS

Undaunted by the action against their fellows, half a dozen Doukhobor women disobeyed yesterday evening in front of Hon. R. H. Pooley, Attorney-General of British Columbia, who had come here to warn all Doukhobors the law would be strictly enforced. No arrests were made and the incident was allowed to pass.

There was an increase of three in the membership and it was stated the Canadian section was in point of numbers, the largest in the empire.

Special consideration was given by the members to the Canadian news letter, which is published by the section monthly and sent by mail to approximately 475 publications throughout the empire. The success of this letter in providing information about Canadian activities to other parts of the empire was attested by a large number of letters of commendation which had been received. Norfolk, Va., May 6.—To the long series of moves which three Norfolk intermediaries believe will lead to the recovery of the stolen Lindbergh baby, John Hughes Curtis, principal of the trio, planned to-day to add another trip by water.

The results of this trip were shrouded in the same secrecy that had covered the manoeuvres of the intermediaries since their lengthy negotiations were started.

SAY PRISONERS ARE TORTURED

Moscow, May 6.—A dispatch from Khabarovsk, Siberia, yesterday said more than 100 Soviet Russians had been arrested at Harbin, Manchuria, and were being tortured by anti-Bolshevik "white" Russians serving in the Chinese police force.

Mr. Slavutsky, Soviet consul at Harbin, has protested the arrests as "unprecedented impudence," apparently intended to menace Soviet-Manchurian relations and peace in the Far East. The prisoners, most of them arrested by Japanese gendarmes, were on a hunger strike.

Among the prisoners, the dispatch said, was a Russian official of the Chinese Eastern Railway and his wife. The prisoners were kept in chains, it said, and tortured by the pouring of a tobacco solution into their noses.

FIRE IN ONTARIO

Cobden, Ont., May 6.—Threatening at one time to wipe out the entire business section of this town, fire yesterday destroyed the Tuffy general store and four warehouses with a loss on the buildings and stock of $50,000.

Dr. James Brebner Of Toronto Dies

Toronto, May 6.—Dr. James Brebner, seventy-two, for almost forty years registrar of the University of Toronto, dropped dead yesterday while cutting flowers in the university botanical garden.

Dr. Brebner, a native of London, Ont., joined the staff of the university in 1891. He was appointed registrar the following year and held the position until two years ago, when he retired. He was awarded an honorary degree of doctor of laws in 1920, in recognition of his long years of service.

Toledo Young Woman Murdered

Toledo, O., May 6.—Strangled to death and criminally assaulted by an unidentified man, the body of Miss Winifred Rafferty, twenty-two, dietitian at the Robinwood Hospital, was found to-day in an exclusive Toledo residential section. Police blamed a maniac for the attack.

New Cutting Plan For Coast Timber

New Haven, Conn., May 6.—Elimination of a large portion of the speculation in the logging industry through reduction in losses from decay of standing timber was forecast yesterday by Professor John S. Boyce, Yale University as a result of fifteen years' research.

Prof. Boyce has been investigating decay of Douglas fir trees in the Pacific Northwest for the forest pathology division of the federal department of agriculture. His researches have shown the Douglas fir increases in susceptibility to fungus infection after reaching approximately 110 years of age. By cutting the timber at or before that time, he believes the loss from decay can be lessened materially.

BIG EXPLOSION CAUSES DEATH

Three Persons in London, Ont., in Serious Condition; Fruit Building Destroyed

London, Ont., May 6.—A youth lost his life, three were probably mortally injured and six others were receiving hospital care to-day as the result of a terrific blast which yesterday evening made flaming ruins of the wholesale fruit plant of C. Catalano & Sons. The youth killed was John Moczulski, seventeen-year-old plant employee, who succumbed to severe injuries three hours after the explosion. The condition of John Moore, nineteen; Andre Piskum, twenty-five, and Alex. Polinski, sixteen, all Catalano employees, still was serious. It was stated by hospital authorities to-day.

Cause of the blast—which shattered windows for several blocks in the vicinity of the warehouse and caused approximately $15,000 damage—had not been ascertained to-day although theories were numerous.

BRITISH BEER TAX DISCUSSED

By Thos. T. Champion, Canadian Press Staff Writer

London, May 6.—The "revolt" among a section of the government's supporters in the Commons over the failure to remove the tax on beer in the recent budget is definitely over. The protest was organized by Conservatives representing agricultural areas, for the most part, and assume wide dimensions.

Mr. Hon. Neville Chamberlain, Chancellor of the Exchequer, in private yesterday gathered these members and delivered virtually a second budget speech to them.

Those who attended admitted later the Chancellor's arguments had impressed them and they took what consolation was possible from assurance the reduction in the beer duties would be considered at the "proper time." It is unlikely, however, that time will arrive during the present year.

The protesting Common members were presided over by Sir Douglas Newton, whose selection as agricultural adviser to the British delegation to the Imperial Economic Conference at Ottawa was announced yesterday.

MAN EXECUTED IN QUEBEC

Sherbrooke, Que., May 6.—A drama of international liquor running that had its inception at Sherbrooke, Que., eighteen months ago, passed through one of its final episodes here shortly after 5 o'clock this morning when Albert St. Pierre was hanged for the murder of Rene Malloy, Norton Mills, Vermont.

The case is one where the hand of justice has fallen more heavily on the man who conceived the crime than on the one who was the agent in carrying it out. Rene Malloy was shot through the heart on the night of November 11, 1930, when he, with his brother and another man, was discovered seeking a cache of St. Pierre's liquor on a farm at Sherbrooke.

It was conceded by the prosecution during the trial that St. Pierre had not fired the bullet that killed Malloy. The theory of the prosecution, however, was that St. Pierre was the author of a plot to lure the Vermont man across the border so he might be killed. The prosecution maintained St. Pierre had deliberately sought to give Malloy the appearance of being a thief so he could be shot in apparent defence of St. Pierre property.

U.S. ARMY FUNDS ARE REDUCED

Washington, May 6.—Slashed by many millions under President Hoover's budget estimates, the last of the big regular supply bills for 1932—that for the War Department—was reported to the United States House of Representatives yesterday by its appropriation committee.

Cutting 2,000 officers off the active list and making other sweeping reductions, the measure carries $386,983,000 for maintenance of the army and its non-military activities. It is $57,789,000 below the appropriations made at last year's session, and $24,380,000 less than the budget estimates.

CHANGE RELIEF SCALE OF PAY IN COWICHAN

Special to The Times
Duncan, May 6.—A meeting of the corporation of the Municipality of North Cowichan was held in Duncan on Thursday morning, Reeve Tisdall in the chair.

It was decided that wages for road work be changed from relief schedule to scale agreed upon last year.

The following grants for 1932 were passed: Chamber of Commerce, $50; Agricultural Society, $50; Health Centre, $100; Ambulance Society, $50; Salvation Army, $25; Chemainus Fire Company, $75; $550 in all. Last year's grants amounted to $485.

TAXES ROUSE RATEPAYERS

Proposals Submitted to Meeting Designed to Reduce Nanaimo City Expenditure

Dance Promoters Appeal Conviction on Lord's Day Violation Case

Special to The Times
Nanaimo, May 6.—H. Carrall presided over a large meeting called by the Ratepayers' Association yesterday evening to discuss increased taxes. Chairman Carrall said few taxpayers believed the council had made an honest attempt to balance the budget without an increase in taxes. In explaining why the ratepayers' committee had failed to meet the council in a joint meeting, the chairman said the council had agreed to a joint meeting and then had passed a by-law raising the tax rate, which rendered joint discussion impossible. The passing of the by-law, he said, "a direct slap in the face" to the ratepayers' committee.

Proposals were submitted to reduce expenditures to the extent of $20,000 in school estimates, and a reduction of salaries on the city staff amounting to $1,147 per month and $13,767 per year. Further recommendations were made for the reduction of 50 per cent in the library estimates, saving $1,500; cutting of auto park expenses and employees holding dual positions. The report was adopted by the meeting. A lively discussion took place when Mr. Gunnis stated the ratepayers' committee had "double crossed" the ratepayers by not meeting the council. Mayor Barby said the tax by-law could have been amended and they had waited from 8 until 9:30 for the committee to appear. The school supervisor, his secretary, and upkeep of cars, came in for criticism, and the school board secretary's position, at present held by a city official. The secretary of the meeting was instructed to write the council to arrange a joint meeting and to submit a report.

The Harewood Community Hall has appealed the decision of Magistrate Bevoir-Potts made yesterday with the charge of violating the Lord's Day Act, when the promoters were fined $1 and $2 costs for permitting dancing after Saturday midnight. The case will be heard in the county court at the end of the month.

N. G. Thwaites in New Book Says Prince of Wales Was Menaced in N.Y. in 1919

Canadian Press
New York, May 6.—A story of what was described as a plot to blow up the apartment occupied by the Prince of Wales in the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel during his visit to New York in 1919 is now related by Lieut.-Col. Norman G. Thwaites, who was then acting as the Prince's bodyguard, according to a London dispatch to The New York Times.

Lieut. Col. Thwaites in his book of reminiscences, "Velvet and Vinegar," published yesterday evening, says an Irish conference was being held in the hotel and open house was kept. Every species of Irishman, honorable and otherwise, he explains, was besieging the place, and much money must have been expended in providing refreshment.

"The sensation came," he writes, "when it was reported some rooms allotted to the Irish conference were actually immediately below those occupied by the Prince."

It was a desperate fellow was in possession of them and contemplated blowing up the Prince's quarters.

"I paid a visit to these premises and asked for a drink while burning literature was pressed on me. Billy (a secret service man, who was guarding the Prince) laughed at the suggestion of danger, but another investigation, by his presence, and was firmly told to 'get out.'"

PARDON MOVE IS ABANDONED

Massie and Three Others at Honolulu Advised By Darrow

Honolulu, May 6.—Lieut. Thomas H. Massie, his mother-in-law, Mrs. Granville Fortescue, and two Irish enlisted men, Albert Jones and E. H. Lord, may not seek a pardon for their conviction of manslaughter in the slaying of a Hawaiian youth.

The sentence of each, ten years at hard labor, was commuted to one hour by Governor Lawrence M. Judd of Hawaii. They served that in custody of the territorial high sheriff and were not at any time confined in prison. Then came the announcement a full pardon would be sought for the four, who were tried for lynching Joseph Kahahawai, who allegedly had confessed participation in a criminal attack on the naval officer's wife, Mrs. Thelma Massie.

Indications to-day were that on the advice of Clarence Darrow, their adviser and defender, they would discontinue their efforts to obtain a pardon.

Mr. Darrow denied he had ever asked Governor Judd to pardon the convicted quartette. He told them to accept Governor Judd's commutation of sentence without seeking further relief at this time. He suggested the restoration of their citizenship rights—rights which they did not retain by the commutation—be taken up later.

UPRISING WAS SHORT-LIVED

London, May 6.—News of a short-lived rebellion on the island of Principe, Portuguese African colony, was received here to-day.

As a result of the outbreak a gunboat and a force of police were summoned from the seat of government on the island of San Thomé, and they restored order. Fifty Europeans and natives were arrested and taken to San Thomé.

COAL AND THE TARIFF

IF THE UNITED STATES IS DETERMINED to make it impossible for Canada to sell her timber and coal in that country, it will be necessary for Canada to cast about for new markets. It is a good deal easier, of course, to say this than it is to suggest means whereby one profitable customer for these commodities can be replaced by another in time to prevent a serious dislocation in two of our most important industries.

We have already pointed out that a trade in rough and manufactured lumber—worth about $15,000,000 in 1930 and more than $12,000,000 last year—will be virtually extinguished if Congress adopts the Senate finance committee's proposal for an increase in the duty from one dollar per thousand feet to three dollars. The same applies to our coal industry, principally that of Vancouver Island, whose product to the extent of 50,000 tons annually is sold in the state of Washington and Alaska. In this case the present duty of seventy-five cents a ton will be increased to two dollars a ton—if the recommendation is endorsed by both Houses.

In a statement to The Times yesterday, Colonel C. W. Villiers, head of the Canadian Collieries, was brief and to the point when he said that such an increase in the duty would completely stop the export of British Columbia coal to the United States. What this means to the mining communities of Vancouver Island is simply explained. Unless another market for the disposal of these 50,000 tons could be found, it would mean that the livelihood of approximately 150 miners—many of them, of course, with families and unable after long years in their calling to turn their hands readily to other occupations—would be practically destroyed.

For several years now the tariff on coal has been a subject of debate in Canada. It will be recalled that late in 1928 when the coal operators of Nova Scotia applied to the Tariff Commission for an increase in the customs duties on coal imports from the United States, the application was vigorously opposed by the Talmie government at the instigation of the coal mining companies of British Columbia. It engaged special counsel to oppose the case submitted from the maritime province. The reason for the opposition of this province to any increase in the duty on coal imports from the neighboring republic was that if such a step were taken, the United States government would increase its duty on Canadian coal imported into the United States, and this would hit the coal mining industry of British Columbia which had developed a considerable market for its product in the Pacific Coast states.

The Crows Nest Pass and Alberta coal companies went even further than to oppose the Nova Scotia application; they demanded that the existing duty, which then was fifty cents per ton on soft coal imported from the United States, be removed altogether, in the expectation that the republic would remove its fifty-cent duty also. No change was made.

Then came the first Bennett budget last year which provided for an increase in the duty on bituminous coal of twenty-five cents a ton, making the full tax seventy-five cents a ton; and a bonus of twenty-five cents a ton for all British Columbia coal used in ships and exported to countries other than the United States. Vancouver Island at once became intensely interested in that increased duty because, as already mentioned, the tariff on bituminous, or soft, coal is reciprocal.

With the rise in the Canadian tariff from fifty to seventy-five cents, the United States tariff against British Columbia coal shipped to the western states—Vancouver Island's principal export market—increased to seventy-five cents. Yet one of the principal arguments in favor of Canada removing the duty altogether was that the mines of the Island and the Interior could increase their sales to the neighboring states on the Pacific slope to a very considerable extent. And they warned, on the other hand, that any increase in the duty would seriously curtail their export business, since that comparatively small sum would reduce the demand.

Whether the gain in popularity in the United States which British Columbia's soft coal might have made if a greater demand for it had been created—by reason of the lower price which removal of the duty altogether would have forced—would have influenced the finance committee of the Senate at Washington at this stage is a question not easy to answer. The fact remains, however, that if there had been no increase in the duty by the government at Ottawa last June, more business might have been done in the meantime, while the tariff enthusiasts on the other side would not have been able to point to Canada's action as a peg upon which to hang their arguments in favor of this latest proposal.

The point now arises as to whether anything can be done by Canada without further retaliation, which naturally would not improve matters in the long run. Central Canada, the great industrial areas, depend upon the mines of Pennsylvania for their supplies of hard coal. This comes into Canada free. A duty on it would simply mean that the price would go up. The cost of transportation, from the Maritimes and from Alberta and British Columbia, is the obstacle to greater use of Canadian coal in Central Canada. It would therefore seem—we are still assuming the new duty will be imposed—that representatives of the Dominion government and the delegates from Great Britain, when they meet at the Imperial Economic Conference in July, might have a heart-to-heart talk about the possibilities of replacing Pennsylvania hard coal with the celebrated Welsh anthracite. But cost of transportation again is the factor. With the world gone tariff mad, however, the countries of the empire now have an opportunity of showing it a way out of the mess into which it has got itself. Will that opportunity be seized?

TOWARD A LONGER LIFE

OPTIMISTS IN GENERAL MAY BE AT a discount in these days of world financial deflation, but there is one who still holds our respect as he speaks forth with hope for the race, physically. He is Sir Humphry Rolleston, Regius Professor of Physics at Cambridge. He says there is really no reason why man, if he wants to, should not live to the age of 100 years, instead of accepting the average present expectation, which is 55.6 years for men and 59.8 for women.

After collecting the opinions of experts in every branch of the subject, Sir Humphry has drawn some conclusions on human life and living, which are being accepted as having the merit of authority. He finds the secret of attaining the century mark, or better, lies first in choosing a family with longevity as its special feature, since heredity plays a fundamental part in producing long life. Secondly, comes the importance of maintaining activity of mind and body. Premature retirement from an active life does not tend to produce long life. Also it appears that moderate indulgence in alcohol and smoking has little influence in shortening life.

However, according to Sir Humphry's conclusions, the great essential to longevity is the inherent vitality of the nervous system. Nerve cells do not multiply and replace worn-out cells as occurs in other structures of the body, but will power may do something to prolong life. Association with younger men also helps to keep the brain supple. The old recipe for a long life was "fresh air, meagre fare and freedom from care." To this must now be added, in the words of George Bernard Shaw, "the will to live," which, itself, is merely another term for optimism.

IN A DESPERATE MOOD

ALTHOUGH THE FINANCE COMMITTEE of the United States Senate has recommended new duties on Canadian coal, lumber, copper and other products and will press for their adoption in that chamber, both Houses, of course, will have to endorse them before they can be put into operation.

But it would be unwise for our timber and coal operators to count upon the defeat of these proposals, since it must be remembered that other forms of revenue, for which a diligent search had been conducted in the committee's efforts to balance the budget, have been rejected, notably a sales tax on the Canadian pattern. In other words, the senators charged with such an important task must now be very nearly ready to adopt desperate measures.

As already mentioned in these columns yesterday, the proposed increase in the lumber duty appeared in the committee's recommendations a week or so ago and was then removed. The very fact, therefore, that it has been restored would seem to suggest that the prospect of its defeat—much as everybody in Canada desires it—is somewhat remote.

BULL FIGHTS VERSUS MOVIES

THE BULL FIGHT IS POPULARLY supposed to be Mexico's favorite diversion; but a brief article in a theatrical magazine recently indicates that the movies have pushed the bull ring into a very poor second place.

During 1930, there were sold in Mexico City and its environs some 18,500,000 admissions to places of public amusement. Of these, almost 16,000,000 were tickets to the movies; and only 160,000 were tickets to bull fights.

Just what all this proves is not entirely clear; in Canada, for example, the movies outdraw baseball by a wide margin, but baseball is far from losing its popularity. It does indicate, though, that the bull fight may not be quite as great an obsession with the Mexicans as we commonly suppose.

Speculation is rife in some quarters in the United States as to what Al Capone—now No. 40886 as the guest of Uncle Sam at Atlanta penitentiary—will do when he has served his term of imprisonment. He probably will find that the greatest crime he ever committed, in the opinion of his erstwhile friends, was to get himself into jail. They will consign him to a one-man stand.

The other day the morning paper published a statement from Mr. Bennett on its front page under a double-column heading which read: "Dominion Saved From Insolvency By High Tariffs." It will now be in order for The Colonist, of course, to send hearty congratulations to the Senate finance committee at Washington on its redoubled efforts to save the United States from insolvency by still higher tariffs. But our contemporary is strangely silent on the subject of what Washington's action may mean for our lumber, coal, and copper mining industry.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

THE VETERANS' BONUS
 The Boston Transcript.

There can be no improvement of employment conditions until the budget is balanced. Treasury deficits make no jobs. They destroy jobs. As matters now stand, one billion dollars a year—a quarter of the total annual expense of the United States Government—is being paid out for the care and assistance of veterans. If a vast further payment were added now, the relief would be fleeting and illusory indeed, for it would be quickly followed by conditions far worse than any which have yet been known.

UNEMPLOYED ON THE LAND
 The Winnipeg Free Press

The possibility of putting not only single men, but also the married men, on the land takes on a new and greater importance with the decision to discontinue the policy of relief works. There is reason to believe that large numbers of the single men can find work on the farms if they will accept a small wage until conditions improve. Those who will not take such jobs when offered should not be maintained by the taxpayers of Winnipeg. And the placing of families on the land also becomes a more important consideration. The government should be willing to co-operate in a scheme of that kind if it involves little more than the cost of direct relief for the families in any case. And it should be possible to place a large number of families on cheap improved farms now available in Manitoba.

A THOUGHT

He revealeth the deep and secret things: he knoweth what is in the darkness, and the light dwelleth with him.
 —Daniel II 22.
 Knowledge is our ultimate good.—Socrates.

Loose Ends

Another of those shocking revelations—a profound statement of public opinion from an empty basket—and a regrettable series of incidents next door.

By H. R. W.

ANOTHER of my worst suspicions has been confirmed, but I would never have mentioned it. I would have kept my fears to myself if I hadn't found the whole sordid business spread before me in cold type in no less a journal than the respectable New Republic. Yes, I find it revealed by an expert fashion designer that the marked and gratifying improvement in the feminine figure of late years, the more shapely curves of the newer fashions, the sleekness of the long new dresses, are all false and deceitful without any foundation in fact. But they have a surer foundation than that. They have the foundation garment (oh, splendid masterpiece of the advertising expert's word magic), and the foundation garment brought its American manufacturers almost exactly $100,000,000 in the last and most serious year of the depression.

HOWEVER, it is not the mere financial aspects of this matter which should concern men of taste and discernment, who are interested in the future of the race. What should concern them is the assertion of the expert that fashion is at once the cause and the cure of all the trouble. Fashion, with the foundation garment and the new frocks, has created the superb modern figure, but it is fashion which made this creation necessary. Without fashion the figure would be all right and would need no fixing. For example, "women seem unable to hold up their insides," says the expert, by perching on spike heels. A few years of this form of tipsoeing strains a loose assembly of small bones, induces more or less toeing-in, bends most insteps into a more or less acute V, producing the prevalent thick ankle, common at twenty, almost universal at forty, and distends the muscles around the Achilles tendon, which swell and join the calf in an unbroken column.

MOREOVER, "ATHLETICS are no substitute for cosmetics. The brawniest out-of-doors girls display as many convex backs, concave fronts, thick ankles and displaced insteps as their more sedentary sisters. A generation of women, who would train their bodies as well as managing their faces could demand any style they wanted and carry it on no foundation but their own. As it is, the present generation had better await the newest disguise invented for them in Paris. Why, after all, should they go in for the arduous business of maintaining their own taste in individual figures when it is so much less trouble to buy a popular type over the counter?"

AND THIS arrangement has this extra advantage that it is good for business, it is creating a vast new industry, keeping thousands at work laying foundations. As an economist I am all for it. But as an honest man, these revelations appear to me a little grisly. I would rather not have known them. I would rather have believed what I saw instead of realizing that it was all false, that all the beauty of our present feminine landscape was built on a foundation such as this. And even as an economist I suspect this scheme for relieving depression by simply depressing our women's anatomy.

THE RED-FACED little man, of whom I told you before, continues to turn up at the exact psychological moment to get a lift into town every morning, and I have no hesitation in mentioning him again, since he assures me he never reacts to the going and coming of the cops and the cops' intrigues.

I always wonder why he carries a basket without anything in it, a yellow, empty basket which is as much a part of his equipment as his red nose. But I am intrigued most by the little red-faced man because I like to think he is the typical plain citizen of this country, not a very flattering compliment to the public, perhaps, but still fairly accurate. I like to question him on world affairs and put his opinions down as the opinions of the great bulk of our people, the utterances of democracy, indeed, the expression of public opinion. I cannot hope to reproduce his quaint earnestness, his belligerent assertion of the obvious, his dogmatic adherence to the absurd, but to-day he said something which struck me as especially profound, as reflecting an important trend in public opinion.

WHAT is wrong with things to-day is that governments have too much money," said he. "Look at all the gold in the United States Treasury. Why don't they give it out to the people, get it circulating, and then business would begin to hum? What I can't understand is why they don't do it. What's the good of a lot of gold in a vault? The trouble is that governments don't think no more now-a-days. They told us when the war was over everything was going to be all right. Well," said he dropping his voice and speaking as one who expresses a fear-some heresy, "I tell you what it is—I tell you what I've come to the conclusion of lately—I've come to the conclusion that the government do no good! I've known what I believe? I believe the war wasn't worth while! With that alarming intelligence he waddled off, and I felt my faith wonderfully revive in the plain citizen, in democracy, in public opinion, empty basket and all.

THE LITTLE GIRL from next door was over here just now with that ineffable and crafty grin which indicated to me immediately that she had been up to some new devilry. "Um, um," said she, settling herself in my armchair yonder with her feet up on the back of it and her head dangling comfortably over the edge of the seat, "I bin bad to-day. I bin awful bad, 'cause my mummy says I bin bad all right. Some days I like to be bad. 'D'you like to be bad, ever or never?' I replied, of course. 'Neter,' she said. 'Oh,' rather sceptically, I thought, 'Well,' she pursued, 'I wanted to be bad all day. So I went up to the bathroom all alone by myself and brushed my teeth." I said I could see nothing very evil about that. "Um, um," said she soberly, "when I brush my teeth alone, by myself, I always squeeze the toothpaste all out of the tube and put it on the floor. It makes such nice ribbons, all flat and white. So when I'd done that I went away from there quick. I went and played with Laura. So I slapped Laura right in the face, 'cause I was feeling bad."

THEN LAURA's mother sent me out of our house, and I started to cry awfully badly. So I went for a walk with Nipper and what d'you suppose? We went down by Mrs. Shipley's chicken yard and I let Nipper into it. Nipper likes to eat chickens. He started to eat one of them but he didn't eat it, not quite never, he didn't. But Mrs. Shipley she came out and gave me a spank right on the bottom. So I cried and cried, and Nipper cried and cried and we came running home as fast as we could run. But my mummy she said, "What did you do in the bathroom?" she said. So I said, "I brushed my teeth is all I did." Then she spank me too, right on the same place. So I was crying all afternoon by myself in a corner, alone. And my mummy says, "Now you see what happens to little girls who is bad."

I FELT AWFULLY badly, 'cause I just wanted to be bad. But when my daddy came home, what d'you suppose? He said to me, "This is a secret, so don't tell anybody, but go into the den and in the drawer of the table you'll find a box of candies. Just take one and don't tell anyone." So I took two candies and I didn't tell anybody except my daddy and my grandpa and my grandma and Laura and Nipper, so it's a secret with me and my daddy. I stopped crying all right then. So now I know what happens to little girls who is bad all right. They get two candies out of the drawer in the table from their daddies, but it's a secret. So one day these daddies I'm going to be bad again all by myself alone. But it's a secret, so don't tell anybody. And if you've got a green candy I could eat it all right, I could." Well, I had, and she did, and then went trudging down my garden path, down the primrose path which leadeth to destruction.

Twenty-five Years Ago To-day

THE VICTORIA DAILY TIMES
 MAY 6, 1907
 From The Times Files

The entire leper colony on Darcy Island, consisting of eight Chinese, were shipped aboard a steamer this morning to be conveyed to China. This comes as a result of an arrangement between the Chinese and Dominion governments.

Steamer Tees, Captain Townsend, arrived in port early this morning from her trip up the West Coast where she has been as far as Clayoquot. The weather was fine during the voyage though at times a thick fog prevailed. The Tees reports that the whaling activity at Sechart is still very pronounced. Each day a number of whales are landed at the slip.

Eighteen local shots held a pigeon shoot at Langford Plains yesterday, the prize being a trophy offered by the Rupert Powder Company. The successful one was Otto Weiler of Weiler Bros., who made the excellent score of twenty-eight out of a possible thirty.

Weather forecast—Victoria and vicinity—Moderate or fresh winds, generally fair and cool.

The fourth annual bench show of the Vancouver Kennel Club is a thing of the past. On Saturday an opportunity was afforded to view the prize winners, decked with trophies, and kennels, resplendent with the coveted cards, official announcement of the winning dog.

For the prestige of association football in Victoria it would have been better that Saturday's game at Oak Bay had never been played. It was a waste of time and money in the city this season. A scoreless draw in some measure represents the merits of the opposing teams but in truth neither side was worth a goal. The "best" was an aggregation whose motto was "each man for himself," on the island side science was sacrificed to opportunism.

THE PEDESTRIAN'S RIGHT

To the Editor—There are some elderly people (one over eighty) living near me who are afraid to walk on Crescent Road, between King George Terrace and Foul Bay Road, as there is no allowance made for them.

A similar condition prevailed in Fairfield Road at end of the car line, and the city put down a gravel walk after an accident occurred.

I have been telling these people that I posted a letter in The Times advocating a walk for them.

Please give it space at your convenience as it will help us.

NEW TESTAMENT OF 1564

To the Editor—You may add to your splendid exhibit list of ancient copies of the scriptures in our city a volume now in my possession. It is a copy of the entire New Testament (in Greek), published in 1564.

The work is a copy of the Royal

Edition (editio regia), first published in 1550 and justly celebrated as the very first printed text of the Greek New Testament and the nearest approach to our own highly prized authorized version (Textus Receptus). It is the work of Estienne Stephanus, who ranks with Erasmus and Beza among the outstanding scholars and critics of the 16th century. The edition bears date of 1550.

That the work now in my hands is part of the editio regia is evident from the following consideration: The text is divided not into verses but into paragraphs, each with its appropriate headings.

The versicular division was also the work of Stephanus (the editor, printer and publisher of the editio regia). The entire work of versification was accomplished, mirabile dictu, on a horse-back ride from Paris to Lyons and did not appear in print until the close of 1551, more than a year after the publication of the editio regia. May I suggest, by the way, that the circumstances of its preparation, just referred to, should be noted in the preface more leniently the injudicious and frequently misleading way in which the versicular division was accomplished.

It may interest your lay readers to know that this ancient text of 1550 slightly modified in the Elzevir text of 1624, remains to this day the traditional text. But as going out by Tischendorf, this is due probably as much to its mechanical beauty as to its critical accuracy. This, too, is readily accounted for. The editio regia was so styled because of the royal auspices under which it was prepared for publication. A manuscript copy of the work was presented by Stephanus to Henry II of France, and was so greatly esteemed by his majesty and scholars of the court that it was decreed that the government should assume the cost of printing. Accordingly a special font of type was cast, and the work went out under the royal imprimatur, the admiration and despair of many succeeding generations.

The work now in my hands is in a remarkable state of preservation. In fact it is almost without a blemish. Typing and illustrations are as clear to-day as when first printed, nearly four centuries ago. A few of the Greek letters have undergone a change but even at that, an ordinary Greek scholar can read it with as much ease as if it were printed but yesterday.

May I add (it is worth knowing), that the first published edition of the Greek New Testament was that of Erasmus, unquestionably the greatest classical scholar of his age. It was published in manuscript (not printed) in 1516. He furnished a copy both to Luther and to Tyndale, and these formed the basis of their vernacular versions and laid the foundation for the Reformation, both in Germany and in England. Erasmus himself, however, withdrew from the Reformation movement. He occupied a position somewhat similar to that of John the Baptist in New Testament story.

Possibly, sir, we are not unmindful of our obligation to the great critics of the generation just preceding us—to Tischendorf, and Tregelles, to Lachmann and Westcott and Hort, but oh, sir, ought we not to lift our hats in humble and grateful recognition to those grand old heroes of the cross, from out the annals of old and new, who, almost single-handed and alone fought their way through tangled thickets of mediaeval darkness and despair, illumined only here and there with a brief phosphorescent gleaming. And the Book that they have given us—we do well to prize it and to shape our lives by it.

With every token of respect for you, sir, and for the paper which you edit with so much enterprise and good judgment.

CO-OPERATION PLAN FOR TRADE

British Press Approves Industries Federation's Views on Coming Empire Conference

London, May 6.—The Imperial Economic Conference at Ottawa is the landmark on which the eyes of all economic mariners are being fixed hopefully. A report of the Federation of British Industries to the British government, issued yesterday evening, coinciding with the conclusion of the tariff debate in the Commons, crystallizes the conviction that on the conference depends the success or failure of the attempt to organize an Empire economic unit.

The press generally approves the federation's report, emphasizing the following aspects of it:

1. The choice between adoption of nationalistic economic policies, with consequent restriction of international trade, and the adoption of a combination system creating a vast unit in world-trade.

2. Complementary industrial production in the working out of which manufacturers in the Dominions would not be competing with manufacturers in Great Britain.

EMPIRE CURRENCY
 The London Times regards the report as a most valuable contribution to the preparations for the conference in July, but remarks that the possibility of a currency paralysis in the international exchange machinery would force monetary and finance questions to the forefront of the conference as being the most urgent problem. It is already generally recognized exchange and the creation of an Empire currency will need thorough discussion.

The London Morning Post suggests the conference will prove an opportunity for demonstrating to the manufacturers in the Dominions that fostering of uneconomic production is unnecessary as suggested in the federation's report.

The London Daily Telegraph hails the British tariffs as a weapon of increased bargaining power.

The Labor press observes that whatever result comes from Ottawa, such international economic discussion is pointing inevitably toward the need for co-operation in industry before it can effectively step across the seas.

CHICAGO GUNMEN PAYING TAXES

Chicago, May 6.—Chicago's gangland is rushing to the Federal Building these days to pay taxes on its income, apparently to escape the fate of "Scarface" Al Capone and others of its leaders.

United States District Attorney George E. Q. Johnston revealed that since the big government drive against gangsters had begun, more than $1,000,000 had been remitted in income taxes by gamblers, racketeers, liquor dealers and other hoodlums.

Garden Party At William Head Next Wednesday

Metchoin, May 6.—The regular meeting of St. Mary's branch of the Women's Auxiliary to the M.S.G.C. was held at the vicarage yesterday afternoon. All general business was disposed of. The governors reported that all plans were complete for the garden party to be held at Mrs. Sterling's home at William Head on Wednesday, May 11.

R. D. Young has kindly promised to help entertain the guests with archery, and Miss K. Chegwain and Rev. H. M. Bolton volunteered to help with transportation. The diocesan board will hold their monthly meeting in Metchoin Hall on Friday, May 20, commencing at 11 a.m. At the conclusion of business Rev. Bolton introduced J. Cann home with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Cann, Rocky Point, on fur-look from India.

Mr. Cann gave first-hand information of the life and customs of the Afriids and other numerous hostile and treacherous tribes, who inhabit the vast foothill territories, where there is no British administration. He also related the story of Mrs. Vernon Starr, a medical missionary in Pershaw, who, disguised as an Afriid woman, penetrated into the wilderness and effected the rescue of a young girl, Miss Ellis, who had been abducted. A brief account of a soldier's life in the frontier stations concluded a most interesting address, and a hearty vote of thanks was passed to the speaker.

In Metchoin Hall on Friday evening, May 13, at 8.30 p.m., under the auspices of the Metchoin branch of the A.X.P.A., Mr. Flintoff will present seven reels of motion pictures, including "The Cradle of Civilization," "The Holy City," "Canada's Parks" and a Charlie Chaplin comedy.

E 5913 A. K. Love Ltd. 708 View St.Jubilee Graduation
Is Colorful Ceremony

First United Church Filled to Capacity in Honor of 1932 Class

Beautiful Flowers; Diplomas and Bursaries Presented; Pupil Nurse's Three Prizes

All the picturesque features associated with such ceremonies were present in abundance at the annual graduation exercises of the Jubilee Hospital Training School yesterday evening, at the First United Church, when thirty-seven members of the class of 1932 were presented with their diplomas, class pins, and in the case of some of the girls, with special bursaries and prizes. In this connection, one of the pupil nurses, Miss Marjorie Marshall, covered herself with distinction by winning three prizes presented by the doctors, each of whom attested to her excellent examination papers.

Masses of flowers, gifts to the graduating nurses from their friends and former patients, made a lovely and fragrant foreground for the rostrum, behind which were seated the graduates, in their snow uniforms, each carrying a sash of scarlet and white carnations; the school colors, tied with red, white and blue ribbon.

HON. J. HINCHLiffe
As in previous years, accommodation was taxed to the utmost, many spectators having to remain standing through the whole of the interesting programme. Hon. J. Hinchliffe, Minister of Education, who deputized for Premier Tomin, conveyed the Premier's regrets that his departure for Ottawa prevented his attendance. He congratulated the graduates on the completion of their training and on the choice of a profession, nursing not only offering the means of earning a living, but reflecting their desire to do something worth while and to make the most of themselves.

H. H. Shandley, president of the hospital board of directors, before presenting the diplomas recorded the sincere thanks of the board to the graduates for the able and efficient way in which they had assisted in the recovery of many hundreds of patients entrusted to their care during the training period. He referred to their loyalty to the hospital and their allegiance to the tradition that nursing is a humanitarian and not commercial undertaking, with the result that they had nursed patients of every color, rich or poor, with equal efficiency and impartiality.

Reference was made to the stiff examination which still lay ahead of the graduates, that of the R.N. examinations, which had been imposed by graduate nurses themselves in order to keep up the high standard of the profession.

THE GRADUATES
Dr. E. M. Pearce, medical superintendent, called the names of the graduates, to whom Mr. Shandley presented their diplomas and Miss A. P. Mitchell, R.N., director of nursing, pinned on their class pins. The graduates included Margaret Dorothy Burch, Linna M. Blomberg, Evangeline Margaret Pearce, Edith Cunningham, Jessie Thorne, Edith Stelmack, Tazie Grant, Edna Elizabeth Boucher, Anna Mary Field, Norma Jean Richardson, Eva May Moody, Emma Elizabeth Braund, Kathleen Moore, Theophila Dorothy Green, Geraldine M. Smith, Florence Isabel Goward, Elizabeth Taylor, Eleanor Sadler Dempsey, Mary Agnes Clarke, Dorothy Thirza Corbie, Jean Margaret Blake, Joyce Harriet Collett, Leona Marie Chase, Eleanor Blanche Schroeder, Mary B. Cummings, Anna Mildred Laidlaw, Barbara Grant, Mary Forbes Clement, Violet Muriel Porter, Florence Lindsay Ferguson, Jean Stewart, Winnifred Reid Travis, Wanda Viola Waind, Grace Mary Ida Beech, Verna Eileen Taylor, Mildred Marie Wilson, Constance M. Todd and Ruth Joyce Young.

AWARDS PRESENTED
Scholarships and prizes were awarded as follows:
Robert S. Day memorial scholarship presented by Mrs. R. S. Day to Miss Florence Lindsay Ferguson.

Graduate Nurses' Association bursary to winner of highest marks for year in general proficiency, presented by Miss Meta Rodge to Miss Mary Nelson.

Dr. Richard Felton prize for highest marks in examination on communicable diseases, won by Miss Marjorie Marshall.

Dr. Hermann M. Robertson prize for highest marks in examination on general surgery, won by Miss Marjorie Marshall.

Dr. E. W. Book prize for highest marks in examination on gynecology, won by Miss Jane Wilson.

Dr. D. M. Baillie prize for highest marks in examinations on medicine, won by Miss Jane Wilson.

Dr. A. B. Nash prize for highest marks in examination on pediatrics, won by Miss Mary Clements.

Dr. R. B. Robertson prize for highest marks in examination on obstetrics, won by Miss Marjorie Marshall.

Jubilee Hospital Board of Directors' three scholarships, of $25 each, were awarded as follows:

1. To the pupil who in her junior year secured highest standing in practical work, Miss Carol Cockell.

2. To the pupil in the intermediate year securing highest standing in theoretical work, won by Miss Mary Portway.

3. To the graduate nurse (other than the winner of R. S. Day memorial scholarship) attending the highest number of credits in her provincial examination. (Award not yet announced.)

CIVIC CONGRATULATIONS
Alderman W. T. Strath, who represented Mayor Leeming, in the latter's unavoidable absence in Nanaimo, complimented the graduates on their successful period of training and spoke of their future aspirations. Confidence was one of the attributes of the successful nurse, engendering public confidence in which connection, Mr. Strath referred to the city's confidence in the Jubilee Hospital, in that it was chosen by the citizens as the municipal institution.

After paying a warm tribute to the business men who composed the board, undertaking its administration with fine public spirit, he congratulated the graduates on the fact that last year a Jubilee Hospital nurse headed British Columbia in the R.N. examinations.

CLASS VALEDICTORY
Miss Margaret Dorothy Burch was the class valedictorian, her graceful little address recording the graduates' regret at their severance with the hospital and their hope of maintaining throughout their chosen profession the high ideals inculcated during their three years of training.

Mrs. Thos. R. Bowden very delightfully sang "O April is a Lady." Jack Smith, the church organist, played the incidental music during the ceremony. Rev. W. O. Wilson pronounced the invocation and led the audience in prayer.

Lodge to Meet—The ladies of Court Triumph will meet this evening at 8 o'clock. Concluding the business session a social has been arranged with refreshments.

St. Paul's A.Y.P.A.—The St. Paul's A.Y.P.A. held their regular meeting on Wednesday evening at the Parish Hall. The meeting took the form of a lecture, by Rev. Canon W. G. Stocken, on "The Blackfoot Indians." All the members enjoyed it very much. The ladies held a dance this evening in the Parish Hall, dancing from 8.30 to 12.30 o'clock. Tickets are procurable from any of the members. The next meeting will be on Wednesday, May 11, at 8 o'clock.

Help Temperance Cause—The Central W.C.T.U. met yesterday afternoon at the Y.W.C.A. Mrs. R. E. Collie, the president, in the chair. The devotional period was in charge of Mrs. E. E. Hinesley. The parable of the talents was followed by prayer by Mrs. R. E. Collie. Mrs. J. Smith Patterson sang with guitar accompaniment by Mrs. A. E. Scudder. The fifth temperance contest will take place from October 9 to November 27. It was announced by the president. Additional books for the literary contest were received, Mrs. Hinesley, the literary convener, reported that the union had received 244 points to its credit, which was an increase of 200 over that of last month. On the motion of Mrs. A. E. Mitchell, seconded by Mrs. Parr, the sum of $10 was ordered to be forwarded to the Prohibition Association.

St. Mary's Bazaar—St. Mary's Guild, Oak Bay, are planning to hold their big bazaar in St. Mary's Hall, on Tuesday, June 13.

Woman's Missionary Society.—The Victoria West Auxiliary of the Woman's Missionary Society met on Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. L. A. Young, Colville Road. The devotional period, led by the president, Mrs. W. F. Perry, several chapters of the "Missionary Study Book 'Korea,'" was enjoyed by the members. Arrangements were made for the purchasing of missionary supplies. The hostess, Mrs. Young, served tea, assisted by Mrs. G. Johnston.

PROPER CARE OF FOOD AND MILK
ELIMINATES SUMMER ILLNESS

We cannot repeat too often that summer ailments could be entirely eliminated were we consistently and persistently careful of our handling of food and milk in the summer season. Infections are easy to acquire when milk is carelessly handled and imperfectly cooled, and food spoils rapidly unless kept at an extremely low temperature. Our precautions to insure that food is handled properly cannot be relaxed for a moment.

An adult may pass over a temporary digestive upheaval with the comment, "It was probably just some thing I ate," but the results of this same carelessness might be alarming and dangerous with the child whose system is unable to cope with even small infections. The summer complaint of which we used to hear so much is an unnecessary ailment. It indicates, in every case, some carelessness in the handling of food or milk.

RAPID DETERIORATION
Ice boxes may be that only in name as they may be incapable of retaining food at a temperature low enough to prevent spoiling. Milk can spoil in an hour or so on the back porch with the morning sun's heat intensified by the glass-temperature. It may not actually sour, but the bacteria which are harmless enough if they do not multiply, have time while the milk rises in temperature to increase enormously.

During the summer months, parents eagerly snatch at every opportunity for healthful recreation. How often do they pack the baby's milk bottle in the picnic basket and then offer it to him many hours later? How many mothers carefully warm the milk, put it in a thermos bottle, and give it to baby at the end of a journey or during the middle of the night? More than you would imagine, because housewives should know better.

HEAT AND MILK
They know that to sour milk one has only to let it steam on the back of the stove at room temperature. They know that if it is heated more easily it is heated first. Yet they do not consider that it is immaterial where milk is, or how clean or carefully covered is the container, or whether it is kept in the milk warm. It is bound to sour eventually, or at least to increase its bacteria count, for bacteria like nothing better for growing purposes than nicely warmed milk.

When we boil milk, we take care to cool it rapidly by means of running water, and then keep it ice cold until used. The more easily it is cooled, the more easily it is heated. The point is the milk should be icy cold until it is ready to be heated for baby's immediate use.

SOME HELPS
My leaflet on "Necessities for a Comfortable Journey," suggests how to handle milk and food on a journey, and the leaflet, "Why is the Second Summer Harmful?" is designed to help parents make it a harmless one. One or both of these leaflets may be obtained by sending your request a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Mrs. Eldred of the "Your Baby and Mine" department of this newspaper.

I have no taste for scolding mothers, no desire to make them timid or fearful of the summer season. But it is frequently necessary to remind them to be cautious of all food and milk, and respectful of the damage which heat can do to good milk and good food.

Lake Hill Women's Institute—The date of the annual flower show of the Lake Hill Women's Institute was set for August 31 at a meeting held this week, Mrs. R. Mercer presiding. A "bee" to make a wool quilt will be held on May 12. Mrs. J. Moody gave an address on "Legislation," particularly in regard to mothers' pensions. The last of the series of home-cooking classes was held on Wednesday under the auspices of the W.I., when Mrs. James Scott presented the teacher, Mrs. Martin, with a beautiful bouquet on behalf of the class, thanking her for her untiring patience and zeal, and congratulating her on its success.

Party In Aid of Work For Seamen

At the May meeting of Victoria Seamen's Institute held yesterday afternoon at the institute, Superior St., with the president, Mrs. R. W. Sayer, in the chair, members were pleased to welcome Mrs. J. W. Troup, honorary president, and to discuss with her tentative plans for a garden party to augment the funds. A good deal of correspondence was handled, letters still arriving from lighthouses with expressions of appreciation for gifts of reading matter, etc., which are of real value to those isolated by their work from so many interests. Miss de Trafford was thanked for the gift of a seaman's jersey.

The register showed that 254 men and seventeen apprentice boys have availed themselves of the privileges of the Seamen's Institute during the past month. Mrs. Fimmore reported for hospital visiting, during which she had brought cheer to many sailor patients.

"Mad Marriage"

By LAURA LOU BROOKMAN
Author of "Heart Hungry," Etc.
(Copyright by NEA Service Inc.)

Everything about the house was orderly, exactly as it should be. Preparations for dinner were almost complete. Sam had departed for the day, leaving word that he would be on hand early next morning to scrub the walks and porches.

"Mr. Wallace came home. I think he's upstairs," Matilda announced. Gypsy looked at the clock on the mantelpiece and saw that it was not yet 5. Jim was home early. Wondering what this might mean, she went up the steps to dress.

The first reaction from hearing the shocking news had worn off. The walk had tired her but it also had been soothing. Gypsy slipped out of her street dress and into a thin negligee. She changed her high-heeled slippers for a pair of satin mules and sank to the cushions of the chaise longue. Then she lay back and closed her eyes.

Minutes passed and Gypsy still lay there. Presently she heard a "low knock at the door."

"Who is it?" Gypsy called. "It was Jim who answered. 'May I come in?' he asked."

"Of course."

She started to rise but the door opened before she was on her feet. Jim, immaculate in white flannel trousers and blue coat, appeared.

"Don't move!" he protested. "Just thought I'd come in and talk a moment. You look as though you were all in. Have a big day?"

Gypsy sat up. She caught the negligee about her more securely. "I'm not tired," she said. "I went down town this afternoon and decided to walk back instead of taking the car. It was foolish, I guess. It's pretty warm."

"You should have telephoned the office," he reproved her. "I could have brought you in the car. When you're down town around 4 o'clock or after you ought to let me know."

"I will next time," she smiled. There was something reassuring about Jim's presence. He seemed so big and strong and sure of himself. Slowly her doubts began to loosen.

Jim inquired about preparations for the dinner next evening. He seemed to be in unusually good spirits, told her that Harrison had been pleased with the invitation and chatted about his day's work.

Presently he asked: "How about driving out to see Abbie and Charles Manley after dinner? Been promising to get out there for a long while."

"I'd love to go," Gypsy said. "Oh, I must start dressing." Matilda walked into the room and said: "She went to the dressing table, seated herself."

Jim edged toward the door. "Guess I'll glance through the paper," he said. "Will you be down soon?"

"In ten minutes," Gypsy declared. She had her hair down and was combing it out vigorously. There was color in her cheeks now but it was not from humiliation. Gypsy fluffed the soft waves about her face. The beauty parlor operator had done her work splendidly.

There were a half-dozen crystal jars and bottles on the dressing table. Gypsy dabbed in one, then another, rubbing her cheeks, dusting them with powder and touching her ear lobes with fragrant scent. She moved quickly. Soon she was slipping out of the negligee and getting into a pale yellow, ruffled cotton frock. It had a full skirt and sash. The ruffles stood out crisply cool, giving Gypsy the look of a quaint young lady on an old-fashioned valentine.

She turned and ran downstairs, arriving in the living-room just as Matilda entered to say dinner was ready. Twice during the meal Gypsy had the impression that Jim was eyeing her admiringly. She could not be sure.

They drove to the Manleys' home later and remained until nearly 11 o'clock. During the drive home in the cool night Gypsy formed a resolution. She would think no more of the gossip she had heard in the beauty parlor until Jim himself brought up the subject. She had faith in his honesty. If Jim had decided on some drastic course of action he would tell her about it.

It was comparatively easy to resolve these things; much more difficult to put them into practice.

For one thing, though Jim was gay that evening, Gypsy had the feeling he was too gay. Everything he said and did seemed to be with the conscious purpose of appearing genial and careless. She remembered this and waited.

The dinner for Mark Harrison was an evening Gypsy liked to think of afterward. The day had been warm but by 5 o'clock a faint breeze was stirring. Sam put leaves in the table on the porch and Gypsy got out the finest damask in the collection of linen. She put tall white tapers in the silver candlesticks and in the centre of the table a low bowl of pink roses. They were from the garden, freshly cut and sweet.

Gypsy wore the chiffon frock with its bright colors against a creamy background. She was a very attractive young hostess as she greeted the gray-haired lawyer. Jim was in his most charming mood.

"Glad to see you, my dear," Harrison said heartily. "Glad to be here. It's thoughtful of you young folks to bother with an old man."

"We've wanted you to come to see us for a long while," Gypsy told him. "Did you? Well, I should have come. Nice place you've got here—yes, a fine old home!"

He looked up at the high ceilinged walls, sighed as though he might be thinking of days when he had sat in that room as the guest of Jim's father. Instead of being gloomy he smiled and began an amusing anecdote.

They went out to the porch and Matilda began to serve the meal. Harrison enjoyed himself. He seemed delighted with the outdoor dining-room, praised the garden and promised to return some day to see it in the sunshine. He told stories that were delightfully humorous and he talked seriously.

They lingered over dessert. At last Gypsy led the way back to the living-room and for two more hours Mark Harrison entertained them. When he finally rose to go he took Gypsy's hand in his.

"She's a fine girl, Jim," he said, smiling. "I envy you. Take good care of her!"

After the lawyer was gone Gypsy went to the kitchen to have a last look and see that all was well there. She was feeling almost happy a little later when she climbed the stairs.

STARS PASS MAKE-UP ROLE WHEN THE TASK IS A DIFFICULT ONE

Hollywood is noted for its famous cooks. Sent to Robert Grandon, in care of this paper, for an illustrated leaflet, "Favorite Recipes of Famous Stars." Enclose two cents in stamps with a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

By ROBERT GRANDON

Recently I received a letter from an enthusiastic fan questioning as to the ways and means of studio makeups. "Do the actors apply their own makeup?" the letter went on, "or does some expert do the work? Or how is it accomplished?"

Like everything else, it all depends upon the character and the difficulty. For ordinary straight roles, the actor puts on the greasepaint and wields the rabbit's foot himself. But for a character part, or some difficult undertaking, it's a different story.

Veteran actor though he is, Walter Huston went under the hands of a makeup man for his role in "Abraham Lincoln." Reproducing a noted historical character is best accomplished this way. . . . Lewis Stone applied his own makeup for the doctor in "Grand Hotel," though it was a long and tiresome process. The late Lon Chaney, specializing as he did in grotesque roles, was his own makeup man. Frederick March went under makeup hands in "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde," as did Boris Karloff as the monster in "Frankenstein."

Loreta Young was on the verge of despair when they gave her the part of the Chinese girl in "The Hunchback of Notre Dame." Master makeup artist of Warner Brothers, made her over into an Oriental. It was one of the masterpieces of the year. . . . Russ Westmore is another of the experts who build up characters for RKO.

One of the best known of all, perhaps, due to the tremendous advertising his products have received, is Max Factor. . . . From his studios in Hollywood he goes forth to create people for the screen and to fool the camera as well as the public. . . . a job requiring expert talent and nice discrimination.

BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggly and the Noise

(BY HOWARD R. GARIS)

Uncle Wiggly and Peetie Bow Wow were walking together through the woods one dark night. The rabbit gentleman had asked the puppy dog to walk with him in the dark because Mr. Longears wanted to teach Peetie to be brave. Peetie was somewhat of a coward or, as some of the animal children called him, "a fraid cat."

"But I know you aren't a 'fraid cat,' Peetie," said Uncle Wiggly as he hoped beside the puppy through the dark woods. "I was sure when I asked you that you would come with me, no matter how dark and lonesome it was. And you did."

"Oh, yes, I came," Peetie softly barked, "but, Uncle Wiggly, I—er—I am—"

"You don't mean to say you are afraid, are you?" asked the rabbit.

"Yes," said Peetie, "I am!"

"Well, that's nothing!" laughed Mr. Longears. "It's nothing to say you're afraid, haven't you?"

"Right at the bush he ran!"

"Oh, yes, I'm keeping right along with you, Uncle Wiggly," barked Peetie. "I wouldn't let you get away from me, not for the world!"

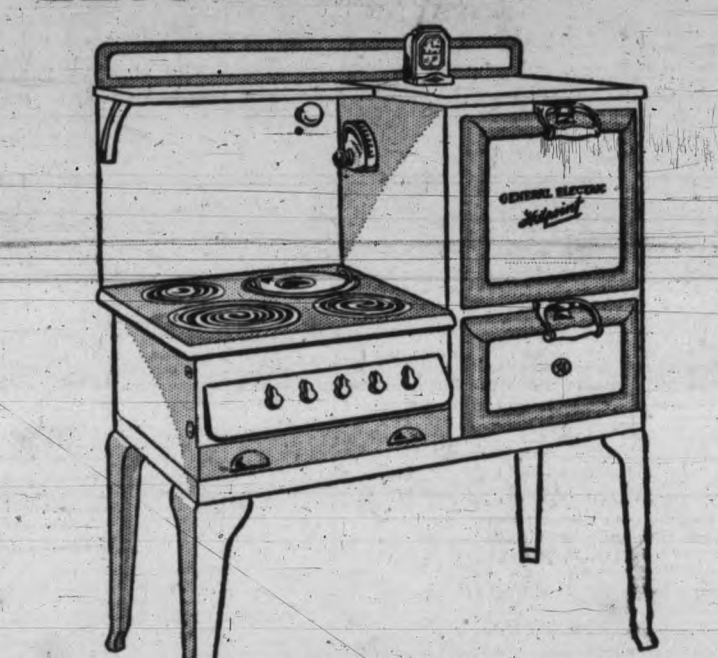

"Don't worry!" chuckled the rabbit gentleman. "I'll stay with you. But, Peetie, I'm sure nothing will really happen. You know there's nothing in the dark that wasn't there in the light. And many a time you have run through these same woods in the daylight, haven't you?"

"Oh, yes, but the sun was shining then," said Peetie.

"And my pink nose is twinkling now, just like the sun, only you can't see it," said Uncle Wiggly with a laugh. Peetie also laughed with the two friends went on together through the dark woods, for Mr. Longears wanted to teach the puppy dog to be brave. All of a sudden there sounded a noise. It seemed to come from the bushes or trees just in front of the two. It was a new noise.

"Did you hear that?" whispered Peetie. "Did you hear that noise, Uncle Wiggly?"

"Yes, I heard a noise," said the rabbit gentleman and he kept right on hopping.

"But it was a mewling noise," said Peetie, who was now standing still.

"Well, what of it?" asked Uncle Wiggly, now coming to a stop. He turned and looked back at Peetie.

"The Bob Cat makes a mewling noise," said the little puppy.

"Oh, ho! So you think the Bob Cat may be waiting for us," asked Uncle Wiggly.

"I don't know for sure, but I think so," answered Peetie.

"And you wouldn't like to meet the Bob Cat, would you, Peetie?"

"No," whined the puppy. "I wouldn't."

"But you are going to be brave!" cried the rabbit gentleman. "You must be brave, Peetie. Now I want you to rush into those bushes and bark as loudly as you can. If the Bob Cat is there your barks will make him run away. Come on, now, rush at him!"

Peetie took a long breath. He didn't at all want to rush into the dark bushes where he thought the Bob Cat was hiding. But, also, he didn't want to be a coward. Then, taking another long breath, Peetie became brave, all of a sudden.

Right at the dark bush he ran, barking "wuff" and "wow, wow," and "bow, bow," very fiercely. And then, all of a sudden, there were some loud mewling sounds and a voice said:

"Oh, it's a dog! It's a dog!"

"Yes, I'm a dog and I'm not afraid of you!" I'm brave Peetie Bow Wow!" barked the little puppy.

"Oh, then everything is all right," said a voice out of the darkness. "I'm Kitten Kat and my brothers, Jote and Tommie, are with me. What are you doing in the dark woods, Peetie?"

"He is learning to be brave," said Uncle Wiggly. "You must never again call him a 'fraid cat, Kitten.'"

"I never will," mewled the pussy girl. "What are you doing in the woods at night?" asked Peetie of the cat.

"We are coming home from a party at Johnnie Busytail's house," mewled Tommie Kat. Then they all laughed together and went home and Peetie was glad he had learned to be brave.

"For over a year I suffered severely with pimples that were scattered all over my face. At first they were small and I paid little attention to them. Later they became hard, large and very itchy, causing me to scratch, and when I scratched them they used to fester. They were very painful."

"A friend advised Cuticura Soap and Ointment so I purchased some. After using one box of Ointment and one cake of Cuticura Soap they started to get better, and before I had finished the second box of Ointment they were healed." (Signed) Miss Margaret E. McDonald, Kouchibouguac, N.B.

Practically Every Man Thinks That He Wants a Sweetly Feminine, Clinging-vine Type of Wife— Until He Gets Her, and Then He Realizes That What He Really Wants Is a Sporting Comrade

THERE would not be so many disappointed and disgruntled husbands in the world if men really knew the kind of wives they wanted, and picked out the women with whom they proposed to spend the next thirty or forty years with as much judgment as they do their automobiles that they expect to use only a couple of seasons.

But they do not. No man would be foolish enough to buy a Rolls-Royce if he could not afford its upkeep, or even buy enough gasoline to run it, but he will marry a spoiled, extravagant girl, who has never done anything in her life but doll herself up and go to parties, and he will be outraged because she demands pretty clothes and runs him in debt. He would not buy a nifty sports car and expect it also to be a truck, but he will marry a girl and expect her to be both a parlor ornament and a kitchen utensil; to step out with him and have a gay time and yet stay at home and do the cooking and take care of the babies.

Nor would any man expect any car always to remain this year's model, no matter how old it got, and always to have stream-line effects and keep new and shiny, no matter what hard use it had, yet he marries a girl and feels ill-used because she does not stay a perpetual sweet-and-twenty, but what with child-bearing and housework and the general wear and tear of life loses her looks and her figure and gets calluses on her hands working for him.

Also, virtually every man starts out with certain hereditary superstitions that have been handed down from father to son for generations concerning the kind of wife he wants. One of these is that he wants a clinging-vine wife, something sweetly feminine without either brains or backbone that will hang on to him like a limpet, and ask him what he thinks she thinks, and who believes that he hung the moon. None of your independent young women who can make their own living, and who know just exactly where to get on and where to get off! He wants a wife who does not know a thing but what he tells her and who makes him feel about seven feet high and as strong as Gene Tunney as she drapes herself about him.

But do men really want parasitic wives? Not at all. Before marriage it may interest a man to have a beautiful little moon roler eyes at him and ask him questions, but after marriage it irritates him so that he wants to knock her little nunsull up against the wall to see if he can hammer an idea into it. A sweetheart who cannot stand alone is one thing. A wife who cannot stand alone is something altogether different.

A man does not want to be bothered to have to decide whether they will have roast beef or boiled mutton for dinner or whether his wife shall buy a blue hat or a black one. He does not want to have to hire and fire cooks, and run the house and family in addition to running his own business. He wants a wife who is just as competent to manage her own affairs as he is his, and pulls her own weight in the boat. Grandpa may have had a taste for clinging-vines, but grandson, accustomed to snappy young business women, does not want to have to prop up a weak and flabby wife.

Another theory that men have is that they want rubber-stamp wives. Wives who yes-yes them all the time and who have not a single individual opinion or taste of their own, and who try to copy-cat them as much as possible and tag them wherever they go. In reality that kind of wife bores her husband to extinction, and it gets on his nerves because she has no independence and never allows him any. The wives who keep their husbands interested are those who bring in something fresh to the family circle, who have individual life outside of the home and who have something to tell their husbands to make them sit up and take notice instead of being merely echoes.

Then men are strong for the domestic wife. When a man thinks about getting married he pictures a fair face surrounded by a savory income that rises from pots and pans, yet there is no woman for whom a man can sooner lose his taste than one who is nothing but a good cook. He literally gets fed up on her and she gives him a mental nausea every time he thinks about how dull and stupid she is.

What is it, then, that a man really wants in a wife, though he does not know it? He wants, first, comradeship. He wants sympathy and understanding. He wants a wife who will enter into his hopes and plans and be as much interested in them as he is. He wants a woman to whom he can boast of his triumphs and on whose breast he can weep when things go wrong with him.

The reason that so many married men fall in love with their stenographers is because their stenographers give them companionship and understanding and their wives do not. The wives are too much occupied with society or their clubs or their children even to listen when their husbands try to tell them anything about their ambitions. To them their husband's business is just the mill that grinds out the money they want, but to the stenographer the business is as vital as it is to the man. Its smallest details thrill her as it does him, and he can talk to her as he cannot talk to his wife. That is why the office wife so often supersedes the home wife.

Then men like wives who are good sports. Wives who make their husbands feel that they are fighting with them, back to back, and who economize just as cheerfully when times are hard as they spend gayly when times are good. Wives who can see a man's point of view and understand why a tired and hungry man does not want to be met at the front door with a catalogue of everything that has gone wrong during the day. Wives who are good-natured and easy to get along with and who laugh things off instead of making tragedies out of them.

Let a woman have these two qualities, let her be chummy and a good sport, and she can snap her fingers in the face of all the vamps in creation, for her husband has got what he really wants in a wife and he is satisfied.

Speeding Around Africa

Another night sleeping on mats laid over the floor of a native hut. This is very different from our soft beds at home, but we are getting used to it. We are lucky to be getting along as well as we are.

A scene in Capetown.

We bid the Zulu folk goodbye, and turn our course southward. Union of South Africa. Here and there we see a farm. It is the harvest season in this part of the world. Over in our land it is spring, but in South Africa we find that we are in the midst of autumn. Australia, Argentina, Chile and other countries south of the equator are also having the autumn season during the month of May.

We have a long distance to travel to-day, if we are to reach Capetown before nightfall. So we do not pause at any of the farms or villages we see below us. We keep our eyes open, however, and our pilot often takes us close enough to the ground to see what is going on.

There are thousands of sheep ranging over the countryside. Each year South Africa sends about 200,000,000 pounds of wool into the world's markets.

What is that place down there? Men are washing down a hillside with powerful streams of water sent from hoses. It must be a gold-mine. South Africa produces more gold than any other section of the earth. In a recent year the value of her gold output was $221,000,000.

South Africa is likewise the chief home of the diamond. Of all diamonds found during the past thirty years, more than 90 per cent have come from South Africa.

Now we see some big birds running around below us. We are over an ostrich farm. The ostrich feathers are sent to countries where women want plumes on their hats.

Well, well! We are coming close to Capetown, the chief seaport of the Union of South Africa. It is a city of 250,000 persons. We locate an excellent airport, and make an easy landing.

What a difference between this city and the towns of Central Africa! Automobiles, large and small, roll along the streets. There are trolley cars and high buildings. Most of the people we see are white folk.

Urges Middle Course For Trade Revival

Sir Willmott Lewis, Addressing Canadian Newspaper Delegates at Toronto, Says Nations' Growing Tariff Walls Strangling Commerce

Canadian Press
Toronto, May 6.—Canada must enter the coming Economic Conference at Ottawa with a willingness to buy as well as sell, and if necessary must make some temporary sacrifices in order to obtain permanent benefits. This was a statement made by Sir Willmott Lewis, Washington correspondent of The London, England, Times, in an address to daily newspaper publishers of Canada here yesterday evening.

In a masterly exposition of the causes and effects of the present world depression, Sir Willmott expressed the opinion the British Commonwealth of Nations would lead the world to recovery, since a certain political shrewdness and hard commonsense was ingrained in the people of the Commonwealth.

IN COMMON INTEREST

"We are asked not to forsake our individual interest, but to meet in the common interest of us all," he said of the Empire conference at Ottawa next July. "This may require some sacrifices, but these would eventually strengthen our individual interests. This is the test which is to be put to us, and I am certain we shall emerge with something hopeful because of that shrewd political sense which resides in us."

In passing, Sir Willmott brought the greetings of the Associated Press to the Canadian Press and Canadian Daily Newspapers Association, which he addressed at a joint meeting. The Canadian bodies concluded their annual meetings here yesterday.

GREAT CHANGES AHEAD

In opening his address, the distinguished journalist declared the life of the individual was more precarious at present than ever before. The farmer in the United States ninety years ago was self-supporting. Now he depended on 1,000 or 10,000 people for the necessities of life. A state or nation was in the same predicament. A bank in Vienna had failed, and through this a sense of instability had spread through Europe until eventually Britain went off the gold standard. "We began to see how nations, like dominoes set up by children, will fall one after the other when one falls first," he said.

No one could deal with a world crisis. There was a law of interdependence among nations which denied the myth of the self-sufficient nation, he said. The world was now denying that law and offering a spectacle of nations asserting self-sufficiency by building tariff walls stupidly high. The whole vast structure of trade was "shrinking like a squeezed fruit."

SLOWING DOWN

"Figures showing the shrinkage of trade of the world are the most depressing thing to-day," he said. "Every country is doing its best to restrict imports and exports so the vast machine of international trade is slowing down. This self-strangulation will be arrested at some point or we shall kiss a fond farewell to our civilization."

A counter-move to correct this downward progression must be started at once, he said. There could be only two extremes—universal free trade, which was just an ideal and impossible of perfection, or the movement now going on, where countries were so protected by tariff walls that none was protected, he said. A middle way must be found, and some group must move forward to the middle road between the two extremes.

PREFERENCE ROAD

"If we must use one word to describe the middle road, I suppose we can describe it as preference," Sir Willmott went on. "A system of this sort might be developed by such a group of nations as exists within the British Commonwealth of Nations. I do not say a preferential arrangement between certain ones, or all of these nations, would be a perfect idea or ideal."

If the impossible perfection of universal free trade was not to be reached, the man was a fool who would refuse the "possibly imperfect" middle course. He had heard, he continued, that at present Canada was conducting a survey into what the country could buy from other countries in the empire. It would be well if the others would also engage in such an inquiry, he said. That method of approach offered greater hope than if "we sat down and said: 'What can we sell you?'"

The world had too many experts, he thought. He suggested that what was needed was the common, garden variety of good management, which it was not getting. "The world needs some good, all-round men. It needs some good, dispassionate, good management, and if it cannot find it in the British Commonwealth, I don't know where it will find it," he said.

Previous civilizations had collapsed because of their lack of moral principle. "Remember there is nothing more certain, on any reading of history, than that without moral principle we are lost," he declared. "Religious change, creeds change, but our moral law is written in the tablets of eternity."

"A great deal depends on the people of the British Commonwealth, for without its present sorry mess would be so. Let us hope we shall find some way to do something about it."

BUILDING UP CONFIDENCE

Sir Willmott was introduced by H. B. Muir, president of the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association, who referred to the distinguished career of the guest of honor in several parts of the world. Mr. Muir declared Great Britain was in arms against a sea of troubles, but she was putting heart and hope and confidence into the rest of the world. Her fight against the depression was the greatest peacetime achievement of any nation. Wartime patriotism was to be expected naturally, but that patriotism was not so great as the spirit shown short time ago when the pound sterling went off the gold standard.

B. C. Nicholas, editor of the Victoria, B.C. Times, expressed the appreciation of the publishers to Sir Willmott, declaring his address had been a most inspiring and arresting one. There had been talk of dissolution of the Canadian Press and Canadian Daily Newspapers Association, he said, but that would be a step charged with unutterable menace to the unity of the Dominion. "I can conceive of no greater disaster," he declared. There was no limit to the destiny of this country if its unity remained intact.

London, May 6 (By Thomas T. Champion, Canadian Press Staff Writer).—To-day was the twenty-second anniversary of King George's accession to the throne and a salute of twenty-one guns was fired by the court bombardier at Windsor Castle, while the bells of St. George's Chapel pealed merrily.

FLOATING POWER

"THE RIDE of Your Life!"

I invite you to take it tomorrow

"That's the Floating Power Ride," says W. P. Chrysler. "The biggest thrill in motoring today."

I WANT you to ride in a Floating Power car.

I want you to know the amazing things that Floating Power does to an automobile.

That's why I join with every Plymouth, De Soto, Dodge and Chrysler dealer in Canada in inviting you to take a Floating Power Ride tomorrow or any day next week.

I can't describe a Floating Power Ride to you. Nobody can. It's something you have to feel and experience.

But I promise you a surprise and a thrill.

Imagine, if you can, a car without vibration. Think of the smoothest car you've ever driven. Multiply that smoothness by two or more. Then you'll have some idea of Floating Power smoothness. The flexibility of Floating Power. A handling ease beyond your dreams.

A Nationwide Demonstration of FLOATING POWER

Starting tomorrow and continuing throughout next week, thousands upon thousands of Canadian motorists will participate in the greatest and most spectacular of all automobile demonstrations—the Floating Power Ride.

Of course, you're invited. Cordially invited. You and your family and your friends. Merely ask any Plymouth, De Soto, Dodge or Chrysler dealer for a Floating Power Ride. Or, if you prefer, ride with a friend who owns a Floating Power car.

You can enjoy performance like this in only four cars—the Plymouth, the De Soto, the Dodge and the Chrysler. Because Floating Power is exclusive. Of course, competition is making lots of claims about riding smoothness. But can they prove their claims? Find out for yourself.

Ride in a Floating Power car. Then, ride in any car without it. You'll find there's a world of difference.

I've said repeatedly that any car that hasn't Floating Power is out-of-date. I mean just that. I know you'll agree with me after you've ridden in one of our Floating Power automobiles.

So I urge you to take a Floating Power Ride during Floating Power Demonstration Week in Canada. Take the wheel of any Floating Power car as my guest. Ride for fifteen minutes and you'll want to ride for an hour. For a day. That's how Floating Power gets you. Just take a Floating Power Ride. You'll see.

"I agree with Mr. Chrysler 100 per cent. And every Plymouth, De Soto, Dodge and Chrysler dealer in Canada is ready to prove the truth of his statements. Take a Floating Power Ride—and discover things!"

Chicago, May 6. — Five men participating in an unemployment protest meeting were wounded in a Melrose Park meeting hall this afternoon by the police who opened fire with a machine gun.

The police had forbidden the gathering and when an attempt was made to disperse the demonstrators, the officers said several fired at them with revolvers. They turned a machine gun on the crowd, felling five. Thirty others were arrested.

Business Prospects Are Looking Better

Alfred Carmichael Tells Real Estate Board Depression Passing

J. C. Bridgman Installed as President at Annual Meeting To-day

J. C. Bridgman was this afternoon installed as president of the Real Estate Board of Victoria, at the conclusion of the annual meeting at Spencer's Restaurant.

Others installed by A. J. Carmichael, retiring president were R. Muirgair, first vice-president; A. Maharey, second vice-president; James Forman, T. G. Goodlake, R. H. B. Ker, A. R. Wolfenden, Alfred Carmichael and M. Kirkpatrick Crockett, executive. Hubert Lethaby was re-appointed secretary-treasurer.

Alfred Carmichael, retiring president, occupied the chair during the presentation of reports of last year's work. R. Lethaby, the secretary, reported that during the year twenty-two luncheon meetings had been held, two special taxation meetings and excursions to Salt Spring Island and Sooke.

The membership was fifty-six. Mr. Lethaby reported. Three active members had resigned and four associate members enrolled.

SELFISHNESS RIFE

The annual report of President Carmichael expressed optimism that better times were in prospect. He ascribed much of the world's distress to selfishness by individuals, ranging downward from those in control of large resources. As a striking instance he cited "high-level" logging and destruction of young trees caused thereby. He also referred to the waste of natural gas in Alberta as another instance of selfishness, at the expense of following generations. Mr. Carmichael was critical of the lack of equality in the distribution of the profits of industry, which had resulted in over-production and unemployment.

International affairs and political patronage had been factors in upsetting public confidence, Mr. Carmichael said, believing the people were becoming aroused and would support leaders instituting reforms, especially in regard to campaign funds.

"It is essential that we rid ourselves of pessimism," Mr. Carmichael said, using the value of same optimism in the restoration of better times. Payment of accounts would be a factor in improving conditions, he said.

Mr. Carmichael recommended members of the real estate profession base their valuations of properties upon their worth for human living rather than for profitable speculation.

"We must give better service, eliminate overlapping and duplication of services," he advised.

AN ACTIVE YEAR

In a review of the activities of the board Mr. Carmichael told of support given efforts to beautify the city and to secure construction of bridge paths. The board has asked the Victoria Municipal Society to improve the gardens of the city by offering a trophy. Taxation matters had received much attention, with addresses by Mayor Anderson, J. J. Blandy, and R. P. Blandy, clerk of Oak Bay. The board had prepared a brief for the City Council and the Union of B.C. Municipalities.

The board had actively supported passage of the $300,000 loan by-law and had petitioned the Attorney-General in regard to the problem of delinquent tenants, the subject being unsuccessful up to the present.

Speakers heard during the year had included Mayor Leeming on taxation, T. Stevenson on advertising, Hal Grahn on salesmanship, Alderman W. T. Strath on the airport by-law, Graham Johnson on changes in existing dwellings, B. Williams on commercial game farms, F. J. Devlin on savings and loan associations, S. Ross on Canada's economic condition, R. B. Mathews on agreements for sale, F. Giolma on housing prospects, and B. D. Whyte on "bootlegging" in real estate.

Following his installation as president, Mr. Bridgman, said the people had learned a lesson in regard to public indebtedness, after government were still borrowing extensively. Men given office hereafter would be expected to resist pressure for works needing loans, and to conserve the credit of the public debt problem would be followed by restoration of prosperity, he believed.

Mayor Leeming and Reece Crouch of Saanich, and J. J. Blandy, city clerk; George Beck, president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, and Frank Giolma of the Victoria and Island Public Bureau.

LAST RITES TO MARY JOY

The funeral of Mrs. Mary Jane Devineau will take place to-morrow afternoon at 2 o'clock, from McCall Bros' Funeral Home. Rev. W. A. Guy will conduct the service. Interment will be made in Royal Oak Burial Park.

AGED MEN ARE ENTERTAINED

Making their debut as entertainers of the inmates of the Aged Men's Home, a contingent of Victoria Rotarians gave a concert at the home on Wednesday evening. This concert closes these interesting events at the home for the season.

The programme was chiefly orchestral, the time band of the Rotary Club putting on a select programme, mostly of classical music. This was varied by vocal selections rendered by Major Angus, J. Allwood and Robert Webb.

Among the guests of the evening were Mayor Leeming and Alderman R. O. Litchfield, James Adam and Alex. Peden. The aldermen are all members of the City Council committee on home management, and together with the Mayor, all expressed satisfaction with conditions at the home.

Among the votes of thanks were numerous expressions of gratitude on behalf of the inmates and the committee for the excellent diversion of the evening, particular reference being made to the donation of refreshments by Major Angus.

Percy Watson, president of the Rotary Club, acted as chairman, and replied happily to references to the success of the programme.

PATTULLO SPEAKS AT SOOKE ON SATURDAY

T. D. Pattullo, leader of the Liberal Party in British Columbia, will make his first appearance in Vancouver Island when he closes the session, at Sooke Saturday evening when he will speak at Sooke Hall. Mr. Pattullo, it is anticipated, will review the last session and outline the Liberal policy. He recently gave a striking speech before the Laurier Club in Vancouver in which his outspoken comments on the present situation and his comparison of Liberal and Conservative policies attracted considerable attention.

The fact taken in the city's present "over the counter" bond sale is much greater than was shown during a similar campaign in 1921." City Treasurer Edwin C. Smith declared this morning.

This morning inquiries about the issue began to come through the mail and among those who have applied for parts of the loan at the City Hall have been people from outside municipalities. It is confidently expected that the whole loan will be taken up by the end of the month, when the sale closes.

"A surprising number of those who came to inquire and invest were women. They realize the logic of the statement offered by city officials that idle funds lying the bank might just as well be earning 6 per cent, especially as the investment is a perfectly safe one and the security behind these bonds is the millions of assessable property in the City of Victoria," said Mr. Smith. "On May 2 and November 2 of each year these investors will clip their interest coupons and receive payment for them at the Bank of Montreal."

The debentures are issued in denominations of $100, $500 and $1,000. An application for them can be made to the city treasurer at the City Hall.

SENTENCED ON DRUG COUNTS

Double Conviction Follows Arrests By Constable T. Stevenson

A smart piece of detective work on the part of Constable Thomas Stevenson, the city force on April 24, resulted this morning in the sentencing of two persons to jail on drug charges.

Dong, Chinese, was sentenced to one year in jail and fined $200, or default, an additional two months, for selling opium.

William Johnson was sentenced to six months and fined $200, or in default, an additional one month, on a charge of possession.

The facts of the case, as revealed to the court, were that Constable Stevenson, on duty at 6.30 o'clock on the morning of April 24, spotted Johnson, whom he knew to be a drug addict. He followed Johnson to a place on Herald street, where he saw him hide a package in the corridor, watched Johnson push two decks of opium from Dong.

When Johnson left the place Constable Stevenson arrested him, took him to the police station and found the two decks of opium. Then he went back and arrested Dong, discovering another four decks in the place.

Johnson, who pleaded guilty to the charge of possession, admitted paying Dong $2 for the opium. He asked for leniency to cure him of the drug habit rather than a jail sentence.

City Prosecutor C. L. Harrison said he had conferred with the Attorney-General's department on the matter of allowing the accused to be suspended sentence as Johnson's case was that of an unfortunate man who had acquired the drug habit when opium smoking was not unlawful. However, the only course open appeared to have the accused apply for a pardon after being sentenced.

Dong, who pleaded not guilty, offered no defence for his actions, although he intimated he was selling the drug for someone else.

LEEMING HEARD IN VANCOUVER

Suggests Municipalities Bear Fifteen Per Cent Or No Part of Relief Costs

Vancouver, May 6.—Proposals that the distribution of relief costs be revised to assess municipalities for only 15 per cent of the charges, and that two governments bear the entire burden in a city which cannot afford its share of the expenses, are under consideration to-day at an inter-municipal conference at the city hall. The meeting, attended by representatives of the lower mainland and Vancouver Island counties, held in the office of Mayor Louis D. Taylor, was resumed at 2.30 p.m.

The gathering was convened to discuss suggested revision of the provincial and municipal taxing fields, and to discuss sharing of relief costs in the expected Dominion scheme. No announcement has yet been made by Ottawa.

Discussion this morning was chiefly confined to the relief question and a committee was appointed to prepare a resolution on the subject for presentation after the noon recess.

LEEMING SPEAKS

The suggestion which will be crystallized by the committee for a resolution to be submitted to Victoria was outlined by Mayor Louis D. Leeming of the Capital City. He stated it was generally conceded the government in Ottawa would provide for only direct relief, with recipients required to perform a certain amount of work in return.

He suggested, therefore, that the provincial government be asked to approve a distribution of relief costs to the Dominion government, 35 per cent to the province and 15 per cent to municipalities which could afford this outlay. If, however, the inspector of municipalities decided a municipality was unable to bear a share, the entire relief cost should be assumed by the two governments.

The cost of the work, proposed to be performed in return for relief, should be shared on the same basis, he said, with the exception of material. The entire cost of material would be borne by the municipalities.

Canoe Washes Up On Dallas Beach

Finding of a dugout canoe washed up on the Dallas Road waterfront yesterday afternoon gave rise to the possibility that it might have been a clue in the disappearance of the famous brothers, George and "Frank," from James Island last week. Investigation by the provincial police disproved this theory, however. It was discovered the craft did not tally with a description of the dugout in which the missing men left the island.

INTERRED AT COLWOOD

The funeral service was held yesterday afternoon for Ellen Violet Harrison. Rev. E. W. P. Carter conducted the service at the Colwood Church. Many beautiful flowers covered the casket. Interment was in Colwood Churchyard. The following acted as pallbearers: W. Savory, W. Hamilton, T. Guy and W. Spencer.

GREAT INTEREST IN CIVIC LOAN

Counter Sale Plan For Re-funding Issue Meets Warm Reception

The interest taken in the city's present "over the counter" bond sale is much greater than was shown during a similar campaign in 1921." City Treasurer Edwin C. Smith declared this morning.

This morning inquiries about the issue began to come through the mail and among those who have applied for parts of the loan at the City Hall have been people from outside municipalities. It is confidently expected that the whole loan will be taken up by the end of the month, when the sale closes.

"A surprising number of those who came to inquire and invest were women. They realize the logic of the statement offered by city officials that idle funds lying the bank might just as well be earning 6 per cent, especially as the investment is a perfectly safe one and the security behind these bonds is the millions of assessable property in the City of Victoria," said Mr. Smith. "On May 2 and November 2 of each year these investors will clip their interest coupons and receive payment for them at the Bank of Montreal."

The debentures are issued in denominations of $100, $500 and $1,000. An application for them can be made to the city treasurer at the City Hall.

BUTTER BATTLE IN VANCOUVER

Alberta Pool Cuts Prices For Second Time This Week; Reductions Here

Vancouver, May 6.—A further slump took place in the butter market in Vancouver yesterday, due, it is claimed, to lower prices offered by the Alberta Pool.

The new quotations, to which all the other leaders had to conform, are two cents down from Wednesday, and are as follows: Cartons, 21 cents; prints, 20 cents, and solids, 19 cents.

There was a two-cent drop on the beginning of the week and dealers in the city thought that the new price could be held for some time.

A feature in the situation which it is claimed reveals the lack of real co-operation among the co-operatives is that the Alberta Pool, a strictly farmers' organization, is able to break the price or "underbid" the Fraser Valley Milk Producers' Association, which is the British Columbia farmers' pool.

UNLOADING STOCK

The representative of the Alberta Pool stated yesterday that it was not so much the increase in production at the present time as the unwillingness to hold any stock in hand in face of the threatened weak market which was the reason for the price reduction. The fact that butter was being marketed at such a price revealed there was unloading and price-cutting somewhere. Canada was coming on the flush of the production season, and prices were likely to remain low for some time, he said. No one was willing to hold any stocks on hand, and it was for that reason that his organization felt it was justified in cutting the price.

There was a feeling among some of the butter dealers in the city to resent the action of the Alberta Pool at this time. They claimed that they had been trying to hold the price of butter at a figure that would represent some profit to the B.C. producers, for whom it was claimed the cost of production was far greater than in Alberta. It was greater by far than was represented in the freight rate of 1 1/2 cents per pound to bring the butter across the Rockies.

Regarding the butter situation in Victoria wholesalers stated this morning there would be a cut early next week.

SERVICES TO-MORROW

Private funeral services for Mrs. Caroline Dunaway, who passed away last Wednesday at her home, 1008 Chamberlain Street, will take place Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Sands Mortuary Chapel. The remains will be laid at rest in the family plot at Ross Bay Cemetery.

Athletes and Their Baths
Worry Olympic Accommodations Committee

Young Ellsworth Vines, Current U.S. Tennis Ace, Loses Exalted Ego

Quits Trying to Make Fancy Shots and Plays Steady Ball; Game Improves

CANNOT a fellow take a bath in peace and privacy. If he is a Finnish or Japanese athlete, he apparently cannot. That is what members of the Olympic housing committee are learning from the attaches of those two countries now in Los Angeles making arrangements for their teams.

The Nipponese are accustomed to a huge tub, large enough for fifteen men to stand around and splash chilly water around on each other. That can be arranged.

Rumor Ohls of Finland has informed the committee hot rocks and birch twigs will be in demand when athletes from his country arrive. The rocks are heated and then doused with cold water. The steam rises to elevated shelves upon which the pride of Finland's manhood reclines after every grueling athletic contest. After the steam relaxes the athletes, they leap from their shelves and belabor each other with the birch wands to stimulate circulation.

The art of baking also puzzles. For days the officials have been collecting samples of pumpernickel, rye, cracked wheat, Graham's and white bread in long, round, short, fat, skimp, dimpled and bulging loaves. They hope to find local bakers who know the art in each variety and nationality.

The eighteenth amendment was saved games officials considerable trouble regarding beverages.

But even that is running into a snag in the form of certain European teams who are accustomed to their measure of light wine. And what are the oarsmen going to drink with their beestinks?

But Finland's worry over hot rocks and twigs may fade away. Unless Paavo Nurmi, flying Finn and traditional Olympic hero, is eligible for competition, that country may not send one of its peerless distance men to the games.

One of the biggest differences between the near-great and truly great athletes may be said to be their own interpretation of their own worth. The near great are good. But frequently they let the outside world see in them a more exalted appreciation of their merits than is justifiable. The really great do not have to cry their own values. The former are prone to charges of swollen heads. But the big guns seldom are.

In the former group write down the names of Art (self-styled "The Great") Shires and his ilk. In the latter record, Bobby Pearce, Percy Williams, and pretty well all the boys on the top rungs of their respective sport ladders.

And in the latter category make room for the United States Davis Cup hero and national tennis champion, young Ellsworth Vines.

Recently Henry McMenore, well-known writer tested out the young Californian. Writing in The Toronto Star, he says:

One year ago Master Vines was just another school boy with ambitions. To-day he is the United States national tennis champion and a thoroughly important personage. Knowing what a whole of a difference a few titles can make I was all prepared to have Master Vines treat me after the manner of a Park Avenue dowager greeting a country cousin.

Imagine my surprise, then, when I found him to be the same old homely Ellsworth of a year ago. The same old Ellsworth, mind you, from the rural drawl to the peevish nose, the too-tight trousers to the sophisticated naivete.

I was shocked and I told him so.

"Naw," he said. "I don't reckon I've changed much. Right after I won the title I thought I was pretty hot stuff, but I've been beaten so many times since I've sorta changed my mind. And you know I'm kinda glad I got beat a few times. For a while there, right before I'd go to make a shot, I'd find myself thinking things like this:

"Ellsworth, you're the national champion—the best player in the country. You can't make an ordinary shot. You've got to be a mile or drop it about half an inch away from the corner. You've got to make a shot that looks like a champion made it."

"Well, that sort of thing about ruined me. All that thinking about how hot I was threw me off my game and I wasn't worth shooting. But those beatings I took from Allison and all the rest, knocked all that stuff out of me and my game's a whole lot better."

He was asked if playing Davis Cup tennis was any different from plain, garden variety tennis.

"Yep, it is. I was pretty excited the first day, knowing that I was playing for the United States and not myself. And I'm still a little bit excited about it all."

Was it true that he liked to get behind. And then pull the match out of the fire?

"Naw, I don't like to get behind. I just can't help it. It seems like I can't concentrate when I'm leading."

Four Matches Will Be Played As Teams Open Fine Schedule

Shawnigan Will Meet Cowichan, University Will Play Incogs, Albions Will Take Field Against Five C's and Victoria Will Face Wanderers; Players Look Forward to Greatest Season in History

Four friendly matches to-morrow afternoon will officially usher in what promises to be one of the greatest cricket seasons in the history of the city. In the only out-of-town match, Shawnigan Lake School will play Cowichan at Shawnigan. University School, which last year toured the province, will start the season with a match against the Incogs at Mount Tolmie. Albions will take the pitch against the Five C's at Beacon Hill and Victoria will guard their wickets against the Wanderers at Work Point. All matches will start at 2.15 o'clock.

KRUSE BEATS DOC SARPOLIS

Portland Grappler Takes Vancouver Bout With Arm-lock Attacks

Canadian Press
Vancouver, May 6.—Although Doc Sarpolis's flying scissors enabled him to secure the first fall, it failed to elude during the remainder of the bout and Bob Kruse won the main event of the wrestling card at the auditorium yesterday evening.

After the Cleveland doctor grabbed off the first fall in the second frame with a flying scissors, Kruse went into action with his flying arm lock specialty. The Portland grappler squared things late in the third round, when, after a series of arm locks had weakened the Cleveland medico, the Portland grappler applied a body press to get the second fall of the match.

The bout ended in the fourth round, when Kruse won the fourth fall by a flying arm lock. The Vancouver grappler came back in the next round to even matters with an airplane spin.

The Californian resorted to rough tactics in the fifth and sixth rounds with the result that Referee Draper awarded the match to McLaughlin.

In the curtain-raiser Henry Jones, Provo, Utah, 148, and Pete Becker, California, 155, wrestled to a one-fall draw.

Becker took the first fall in the second round by a flying body scissors and body press. Jones earned a draw when he took a fall in the fourth with a cradle hold.

GOLF FINALS AT COLWOOD

Mrs. F. Sayward-Wilson and Mrs. J. Hutchinson Battle For Title

Mrs. F. F. Sayward-Wilson, medalist and defending champion, by virtue of her win over Mrs. F. Fitzgibbon, who defeated Mrs. R. K. Philbrick in the finals of the women's championships at the Royal Colwood Golf Club today. Miss Fitzgibbon was defeated by Mrs. Sayward-Wilson 4 and 2, while Mrs. Hutchinson took Mrs. Philbrick, a former titleholder, into camp via the 3 and 1 route.

After biding her own on the trip out and being all square at the thirteenth carpet, Mrs. Sayward-Wilson was able to end the match at the sixteenth green. In the other semi-final battle it was anybody's match up to the thirteenth, but after that Mrs. Hutchinson rallied to put the round in the bag.

The first final final brought together Mrs. L. O. Howard and Mrs. A. McKill, while Mrs. A. Gonnason and Miss C. Irving clashed in the second flight final.

Soon as I get in front my mind starts wandering around and I start experimenting with fancy shots. But when I get behind I start concentrating and paying attention to business. Naturally that makes my game better," he remarked.

Ellsworth also said he was in a hurry to get married and was going to do that very thing just as soon as the tennis season was over. That he did not plan to turn professional save as a "last resort from starving."

Five years ago to-day Babe Ruth, the showman, stepped to the plate in the tenth inning of the Yankees' exhibition game with a Fort Wayne semi-pro team, score tied at three all. The game was over and the customers could go home. He then crashed the next pitch over the right field fence.

Since nothing will be at stake in the match, both the Five C's and Albions will have all their men out, with the object of giving as many as possible a game. It is also probable this policy will be followed by the other eleven in the city.

PRELIMINARY TO BIG SEASON
Matches to-morrow will be the preliminary to an attractive schedule which has met with the approval of all clubs entered in the Victoria and District League. Next week the first knockout series will start. These games will be interspersed with regular league fixtures.

An intercity match on Dominion Day is also on the card, along with various other fixtures of unusual interest.

The programme will reach its high point on June 18 and 20, when the Australian tourists meet an Island team in an exhibition as the opener of their playing schedule on the North American Continent.

TRIAL GAME
On May 24 a special match between two teams selected from all parts of the Island will be played in order to give players from all clubs a chance to show their form to the selection committee which will name the eleven to meet the Australians.

Although that will be the final test, the showing of different men during the early part of the season will doubtless play a big part in influencing the committee in its choice.

Reports from various clubs indicate several new men will make their appearance on local fields, but the strength of the new blood is not known.

In to-morrow's fixtures the eyes of many cricket followers will be turned on the two school teams competing. University and St. Albans, the eleven which will compose the school league with Brentwood, have developed several good boys in recent years and exceptional keen interest will centre around their activities this season.

Mac Smith Swings; Doesn't Hit Ball

By JOE GLASS

The average golfer would be better off if, from the start, he conceived of the process of stroking the ball as swinging, not hitting.

"Hitting" implies a sudden and powerful application of force. "Swinging" gives a picture of a controlled and rhythmic sweep. If, then, you think of stroking as swinging, you have glimpsed the mechanical and psychological foundations of golf. The swing is not hurried, it is calm; it is not jerky, but easy and flowing.

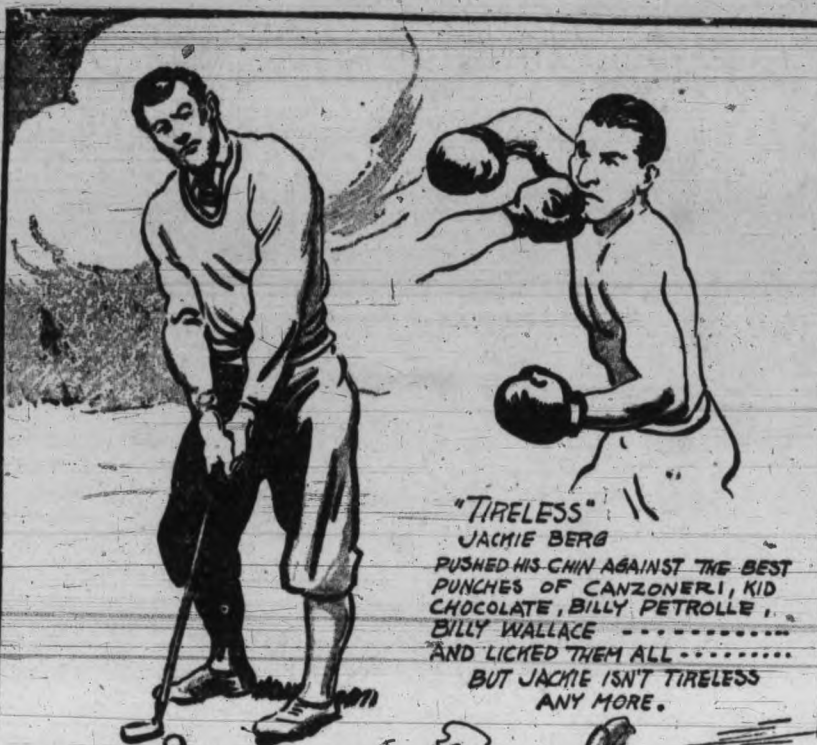

When you think of hitting the ball hard, your mind is more occupied with the result of the shot, than with the shot itself. This brings tension and tension begets most of a golfer's troubles. Get stroking fixed in your mind as swinging, concentrate on making the swing correctly and it will be that much easier to learn the various factors comprising the mechanics of the stroke.

First of these, naturally, is taking the right position for the swing. There is no one better to imitate in this regard than MacDonald Smith. He stands almost upright, his weight on his heels, his knees just a little bent, at the address—as the drawing shows, he is in comfortable relation to his ball. While relaxed, he is so well balanced that he is in position to apply all necessary power.

Most players find it hard to stand up to the ball. They want to stand away and bend over. This fault brings other faults, as succeeding articles will show.

Teams Primed For Cup Soccer Final

Esquimalt and Victoria West in First-class Shape For Game To-morrow

Junior Jokers Will Meet New Westminster Squad in Second Match

When Esquimalt and Victoria West step on the Royal Athletic Park field to-morrow afternoon at 2.45 o'clock, for the final round of the Jackson Cup, emblematic of the Lower Island football title, a battle royal is expected. Both eleven have the utmost confidence and are exceptionally strong for the fray.

At 4.30 o'clock the Junior Jokers team will clash with the Junior New Westminster Royals in the semi-finals of the Province Cup.

McMillan will handle the whistle in the senior tussle with Doves and Alcock on the line, while Bundock will be the referee in the Junior battle.

De Costa, a busy Esquimalt defender, who has been out of the game for some time owing to injuries, has recovered and will be back in uniform to be an obstacle to the West's goalkeepers. Joe Watt and Clyde Nicol will guard the back rank for the dockers with Ivan Sweeney, Max Williams and Pepin on the half-backs. A first-class forward division consisting of Barney Barnswell, Mike Wagnland, John Watt, "Scotty" Stewart and Bob Stewart are expected to worry Restall, the West's goalie.

The exact line-up for the Wests has not been released as yet but the probable starting players are Wright and Ken Thompson in the full-back positions with Stewart, Peers and Milligan in front of them. The attacking division will probably be composed of Youson, Stevens, Borge, Mulcahy and Bob Shanks.

Interest is high regarding the Royals' Junior battle in the semi-final for the Province Cup. The game, which will immediately follow the senior fixture, is expected to give the fans a thrill for their money, as both teams are in first-class shape. The mainline eleven will line up with Graham in goal and Knox and Lockhead in front of him. Tucker, Bruce and Halliday will form the intermediate line with McDonald, Douglas, Hyatt, Marres and Fraser in the forward line. Reserves will be McLeod, Bolton and Palmberg. The Jokers will choose their team from Baxter, Rickson, Soubay, Kennedy, Robinson, L. Kennedy, Bell, Musgrave, D. Crofton, Cowden, Gibson, Painter and Lorandini. It was announced to-day that the new grandstand would be in place and ready for the game to-morrow.

SEE UPSET IN BOWLING

Pick-up Squad Takes Lead in Team Championship Play in Vancouver

Victorians and Star Outsiders Will Start Play This Evening

Canadian Press
Vancouver, May 6.—The unexpected happened at Chapman's recreations yesterday when a team of "alley rats" rolling under the name of Petroleum Heat and Power, Vancouver, stepped out and took the lead in the fight for the open team championship of the North-western International Bowling Congress.

The squad of pickups, not one of them known to senior ranks, toppled the pins for a total of 2,883, while the City League squads who were expected to do something big in this tourney failed to show class at any time.

Several visiting squads showed their wares on the alleys, but only two of them showed to advantage when the Pacific Mutual Life Association, Everett, scored 2,804, to take second place, and Western Dairy Products, Spokane, finished in fifth place for the time being with 2,731. Fraser Cafe, New Westminster, performed well, to count 2,783 and take third place. Lassalle, Met, 11,300—H. B. Combe vs. J. Randall, 11,235—J. R. Angus vs. A. Youngman.

KENTUCKY RACE LOSES GLAMOUR

Scratching of Leading Aspirants Hits Gates; Tick On Still Favorite

Associated Press
Louisville, Ky., May 6.—It is still the one horse race in North America that really grips the imagination of the sports-loving public, this Kentucky Derby, but its fifty-eighth running to-morrow around the picturesque oval at Churchill Downs lacks much of its usual thoroughbred class.

For the very reason that the field is more wide open than in years it may be a better and more exciting race, even if no more than a dozen or so go to the barrier, but the uncertainty and unrest of the times has unquestionably struck this classic of old Kentucky.

Within four days this week, the great filly Top Flight, winter book favorite, Burning Blade, Western Star and Upland, winner of the Wood Memorial, all were withdrawn. And just as though the "tots" had not already felt the blow coming, the weather man says it looks like rain for Derby Day.

Tick On, owned by Mrs. Louis G. Kaufmann, of New York, is the nearest thing now to a stand-out at odds of two to one.

Perhaps this eastern colt is the best of a sub-normal field but there are plenty of experts who want to see it demonstrate before they will agree.

HAS TAKEN BEATINGS
Although good excuses are offered, Tick On was defeated in its only previous three-year-old start and won only three of its ten starts as a juvenile.

Run earlier than usual, and prior to the Preakness for the first time in years, the Derby may develop a new tearing down the stretch at the down yesterday to win a claiming race, at a mile, in the startling time of 1:37 3-5.

Immediately its owner announced Hoops would be entered in the $50,000 classic, along with Adobe Post, owned by C. H. Knebelkamp and Richard Yates.

The consensus, however, is that the Derby winner likely will be found among these four entries: Tick On; Dragoon King, paired with brother Joe as Col. E. R. Bradley's entry; Economic, the speedy property of J. H. Loucheim, and Stepanofetch, coupled with Over time as the entry of Mrs. John Hay Whitney.

M'CREADY PINS TINY ROEBUCK
Syracuse, N.Y., May 6.—Earl McCready, formerly of Amulet, Sask., demonstrated again yesterday evening that he holds the edge over Tiny Roebuck, Indian, by pinning his shoulders to the mat in 20.48 in the feature wrestling bout. It was the second victory for McCready over Roebuck here within a week. The Indian weighed 248 and McCready 235.

DEMPSEY FIGHT LURE FOR FANS

By AL DEMAREE

Jack Dempsey's thirty-six-year-old legs may not have the tigerish spring they used to possess, but in the opinion of 90 per cent of the boxing fans, they are still plenty good enough to carry him to another world championship.

I have received thousands of letters in response to a cartoon I ran recently asking the public whether the old mauler could come back. And the replies came from every part of this country and from every walk of life. Brokers and farmers, clerks and bankers, soldiers and sailors, individuals and reprieves from whole departments and organizations.

A surprising number of replies came from women and they were almost 100 per cent strong for Jack's comeback.

I never realized before just how much Jack Dempsey appeals to the imagination of every class of person, and with what affection and loyalty he is held by all sport lovers.

I cannot imagine 90 per cent of the fans being wrong in their sublime faith that he can really come back. The old-time bounce may not return to his legs, but he still has three of his old traits—the sock, the same willingness to trade punch for punch and the fighting instinct, one thing he will never lose.

The Knox Tennis Club will be formally opened to-morrow afternoon at 3 o'clock by Rev. J. S. Patterson. The courts are situated at the corner of Gladstone and Stanley Avenues. All members, senior and junior, may invite friends to the event. This will take the form of a tennis picnic. Play will continue until dark.

There was considerable fun in the doubles and singles during the day, but very few changes in the standings. Jimmy Kier and Ronny Knox rolled magnificently when they scored 1,139 to lead the Commercial doubles. Knox tallied 607. Buchan and Lewis, also Vancouver, took fourth place with 1,107.

Kalley, Vancouver, 629, and Fletcher, Vancouver, 628, took third and fourth places respectively in the Commercial singles. Kennedy rolled into second place of the Commercial all events with 1,181.

ROLLED STEADILY
Petroleum Heat lads rolled steadily throughout to score their 2,853. They had three games well over the 900 mark. There were several individual scores of 600 or better during the day.

This morning and afternoon local stars were trying their luck in doubles and singles, and to-night the "big" or so go to the barrier, but the uncertainty and unrest of the times has unquestionably struck this classic of old Kentucky.

Whaling Ships Going To Northern Grounds

Seattle Fleet of Four Will Sail To-morrow Morning For Kodiak Island

Not Known Yet If Victoria's Whaling Fleet Will Leave Harbor

While it has not been definitely decided if the Victoria whalers will go to the grounds this year, four whalers from Seattle are preparing to sail to-morrow morning for Alaska waters, the first whaling ships to go into the northern grounds since 1930.

The fleet of four which will sail to-morrow is composed of the Aberdeen, Westport, Peterson and Moran. All are units of the American Pacific Whaling Company's fleet, with which the Consolidated Whaling Corporation of Victoria is affiliated.

Victoria's whalers remained in port last season for the first time in several years. There was no business for them in the northern ground, prices for oil in the United States not making the annual hunt worth while. This year conditions are not much better, but it is believed two or three Victoria whalers may be commissioned before the end of this month. The local fleet is composed of the W. Grant, the Blue, the Black, the White, the Green, the Brown and the tender Grey. Their bases in northern waters are at Rose and Naden harbors, in the Queen Charlotte Islands.

GOOD OLD DAYS

The fleet which will sail from Seattle to-morrow is only a remnant of the vast fleets of former years which scoured Alaska waters for whales. Years ago whalers from virtually every port on the Pacific Coast cruised northward in the spring and stayed several months off the Queen Charlotte, in Bering Sea, and right up in the Arctic.

Point Barrow, the northernmost settlement under the United States flag, was born of the whaling fleet, having been a coaling station for the vessels which ventured into the ice-filled waters of the Arctic. Thousands of men formerly found employment on the sturdy whaling vessels, but this year only 100 will be employed out of Seattle.

With thirty-five men who will be employed at the station of the whaling company at Port Hobson, Kodiak Island, the steamship Lakina, Capt. John Livingston, sailed yesterday from

Thinks Flier Took Own Life

Boston, May 6.—W. Hamilton Little, world war flier and a salesman out of work, was missing in his monoplane to-day, many hours after he started on a "short flight" and a relative feared he had flown into the mists to a new kind of premeditated death. Little's uncle, W. H. Reynolds, expressed the opinion Little had flown his plane over the ocean until the fuel was exhausted with suicidal intent.

Three National Guards planes were sent out to search for him early to-day.

In the evening after four or five hours at the bustling little city across the Straits.

The Sons of Canada baseball team will take the trip across and will meet a team from Port Angeles in what should prove an exciting game.

A four-piece orchestra has been engaged for dancing on the Princess Charlotte.

A side-trip from Port Angeles to beautiful Lake Crescent, in the Olympic Mountains, has been arranged, and motor cars will leave the dock as soon as the Princess Charlotte ties up.

PASSENGER MEN ARRIVE IN CITY FOR CONFERENCE

Representative of the transportation lines of the northwest, a party of railway and steamship officials, members of the Pacific Northwest Passenger Association, reached Victoria by the 12:45 p.m. boat to-day from Seattle. A conference is being held in the Princess Louise private dining-room at the Empress Hotel this afternoon. The party will remain in the city until to-morrow.

Charlotte to Take Angeles Excursion

Arrangements have been completed for the excursion from Victoria to Port Angeles, to-morrow afternoon by the Ss. Princess Charlotte. The trip will be under the auspices of the C.P.R. Social and Athletic Club, and members of the club and their friends and other Victorians will make the trip. The ship will leave the Belleville Street pier at 1 o'clock and will return to Victoria

Empress of Canada Sailing To-morrow

With 275 passengers in all classes, the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Canada will sail from here to-morrow for Honolulu and the Orient. She will leave Vancouver at 11 o'clock in the morning, arrive at the Rithet piers shortly after 6 o'clock, and put to sea about 6 o'clock after picking up local and United States passengers, light cargo and mails from Seattle. Capt. A. J. Halley, R.N.R., will be on the bridge.

Due Monday morning is the liner Empress of Asia. She sailed from Yokohama last Saturday, and is bringing in a good list of passengers, including several well-known Oriental residents going to England to spend the summer months.

Canadian Trade Ship at Bermuda

Hamilton, Bermuda, May 6.—The future possibilities of trade between Canada and Bermuda as part of Empire and international commerce were brought home to Canadian delegates at the Parliamentary Trade Conference here yesterday as the steamer Cavalier from Montreal arrived at St. George's harbor, hundreds of tons of Canadian goods.

The British and Canadian groups were at picturesque St. George's when the Cavalier steamed into the harbor in the morning sunshine. Beneath her hatches were hay, bran, oats, rye, flour, lumber and rye whiskey.

Informal conferences were carried on yesterday in connection with Bermuda's imports and exports, industries, climate and prevailing salaries, the distribution of goods, cost of living, tourist traffic, cost of government and development projects and history of the island.

BRITISH TRANSPORTATION FACILITIES ARE PRAISED

Winnipeg, May 6.—"Trade depends on efficient and economical transportation. What group is better served in this respect than the British people? When it comes to transportation the Empire has at its command an asset for extending trade within its far-flung domains which can be counted upon at all times to render services which cannot be surpassed." This was the statement of W. M. Birks, vice-president of the federation of Chambers of Commerce of the British Empire, in the course of an interview here today. Mr. Birks, with Col. W. L. McGregor, president of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, is touring western Canada in the interests of Empire.

"It is probably no exaggeration to claim," said Mr. Birks, "that the British people own and operate the finest transportation system in the world. What nation can call back on tradition of the sea, for example, approaching that of England? Her steamship lines are standards of excellence and efficiency, her navigators unrivalled. The Canadian steamers of London, Liverpool, Montreal and Vancouver ply the merchant routes of all the seas, while vessels of Canadian ownership are also

SHOULD AID NEW ROUTE

Montreal Shipping Man Tells of Struggles St. Lawrence Route Had at First

Montreal, May 6.—"Most of us older men remember the struggle for recognition of the St. Lawrence route when all the present arguments against the Hudson Bay route were put forward against the St. Lawrence," declared Thomas Harling, veteran Montreal shipping agent, yesterday in defending the Hudson Bay route as a potential grain carrier.

"All these objections were overcome in time and the St. Lawrence is now an accepted fact. Furthermore, it is not many years ago that Vancouver was thought an impossible outlet for Canadian grain. It was said it could not be carried through the tropics via the Panama Canal. This route is now established and is unquestionably of the greatest advantage to the Alberta farmers," Mr. Harling continued.

"Would it not be better for all those interested in the grain trade of Canada to try and help, rather than hinder this new route which, when it comes established, as in time I firmly believe it will, can be of very great benefit to all grain growers in the northern sections of the prairie provinces. It is my opinion, despite his company's interest in the Hudson Bay route, that the Hudson Bay route will carry a very considerable trade both eastbound and westbound, and will result in a great saving in transportation costs to the large area of country directly tributary to it," he said.

Mr. Harling added the owners of the freighters Farnworth and Workworth, which opened the route as grain carriers last year, were entirely satisfied with their experiences in the Hudson Bay and were ready to send these steamers again or other tonnage required during the coming season. They were willing to accept rates not exceeding those paid last season, he said.

WEATHER HOLDS BIG SEAPLANE

Ten-passenger Sikorsky For Local Service May Come Here To-morrow Or Sunday

The big ten-passenger Sikorsky seaplane which will link up Victoria and Vancouver in a fast air service, starting next week, has been delayed by bad weather in the mountains of Oregon and Washington and will not make her first trip here until to-morrow or Sunday, according to word received in Victoria this morning by Major Don McLarin, general manager for the Canadian Airways Limited, which firm will operate the plane.

The machine was expected in Vancouver some time to-day, but at noon had not arrived. She was originally due in Vancouver from the east yesterday, but bad weather in the mountains coming north from San Francisco necessitated the landing of the plane south of the border.

If the plane comes over to-morrow or Sunday, she will land in Esquimalt Harbor, and will test out the new float now under construction at the foot of Carleton Road, on the southern shore of the harbor, near the Yarrow plant. The big machine has twin engines, guaranteeing the maximum of safety, but bad weather in the mountains coming north from San Francisco necessitated the landing of the plane south of the border.

PLANE CRASHES AT SASKATOON

Canadian Press

Saskatoon, Sask., May 6.—When the undercarriage of their airplane buckled yesterday evening as they were landing at the air harbor here, three men, all of Edmonton, were slightly injured as the plane slipped over. None of them was seriously hurt and will not have to remain in hospital.

The men were landing here from Regina, where their plane had been inspected. They anticipated taking it to Great Bear Lake to prospect and had made the trip to Regina for the express purpose of obtaining a Canadian license for their United States purchased machine.

The men were: Henry McKenzie, R. R. Field and O. Linden.

OBJECT TO U.S. SHIPS

Sydney, Australia, May 6.—Agitation has been begun in Australia and New Zealand against United States-owned shipping companies trading to these countries. Newspapers are urging the government to take action, particularly against the Matson Line. "An Australian and British-owned vessel cannot trade between United States ports—for instance, Honolulu and San Francisco—it is being urged that Matson liners should be prevented from trading between ports of the British Empire—for instance, Auckland and Sydney.

Government subsidies granted to the Matson Line are giving them an unfair advantage, and Australian, New Zealand and British ships are being hampered in the trade, it is declared.

COTMAN CASE WILL PROCEED

Driver of Death Car on Gorge Road Faces Common Danger Charge

Magistrate George Jay in the Sanich Police Court yesterday afternoon disallowed a move on the part of the prosecution to withdraw a charge of manslaughter against Charles Cotman of Goldstream, driver of the car in which William Morgan was killed in an accident on Gorge Road last Sunday.

Prosecutor E. L. Tait declared that after hearing the evidence in the case, as presented to the coroner's jury, he did not feel justified in proceeding with the manslaughter charge. However, a charge of driving to the common danger would be preferred.

G. H. Seder, counsel for the accused, as a result asked for dismissal of the manslaughter charge and release of bonds.

The magistrate said he could not agree to this course. He explained that if it were proved Mr. Cotman was driving to the common danger when the accident occurred, the element of culpability in the death of Mr. Morgan would arise.

Mr. Tait suggested that the elements in the two charges were different. Driving to the common danger might include ingredients which did not justify a manslaughter charge until the other case had been disposed of.

SHE WORRIED ABOUT HER WEIGHT

"I started taking Kruschen Salts a month ago. I have lost five pounds in weight, and I feel as if I have lost fifty pounds. I am full of vigor, whereas before I was worried about my condition, as I was listless and worried over little things. But I am thankful to say that, were my troubles doubled, they would not worry me to-day—thanks to Kruschen."—Miss V. P.

Here's the recipe that banishes fat—take one-half teaspoon of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water before breakfast.

Be sure and do this every morning, for "It's the daily dose that takes off the fat." Don't miss a morning. Kruschen daily means that every particle of poisonous waste matter and harmful acids and gases are expelled from the system.

Modify your diet, and take gentle exercise. The stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels are tuned up, and the pure, fresh blood containing these six salts is carried to every part of the body, and this is followed by "that Kruschen feeling" of energetic health and activity that is reflected in bright eyes, clear skin, cheerful vivacity and charming figure. ### School Fees Discussed By Duncan Board

special to The Times
Duncan, May 6.—Duncan Consolidated School Trustees met Wednesday evening, when a letter was received from the local fire insurance company re rates and methods of reducing same for schools. Messrs. Saunders and Castle were appointed a committee with the secretary to go into the whole matter of insurance and report.

A recommendation was received and agreed to that all schools co-operate in the matter of a sports day, and this will be held on May 23.

A letter was received from the Cowichan Chapter I.O.G.E. asking permission to hold their annual Empire Day ceremony at the school, and this was agreed to.

Tenders for transportation of school children will be called for to cover a period of three or five years, instead of one year, as heretofore.

The question of fees for high school pupils was under consideration, and while the board does not at present impose fees on parents of children between sixteen and seventeen years of age, and charges only some of the actual cost for pupils over seventeen, a resolution was put to the board and laid over for one month for consideration to the following effect:

(a) This school board charge a fee for all students over sixteen, which will cover the cost of their schooling.

(b) The fee be only levied in cases where the parent or guardian is absolutely unable to pay, and then only where the student concerned has attained a minimum of 75 per cent of marks in the previous term's work.

(c) A student on passing and obtaining a matriculation certificate within the four years' high school period be refunded the total fees paid in. This is to be in the form of a scholarship.

LOGGING FIRM GETS DAMAGES

Elco Logging Company to Pay $861 to Western Commercial Lumber Company

In Supreme Court yesterday afternoon, Mr. Justice W. A. Macdonald awarded the Western Commercial Lumber Company damages of $861 against the Elco Logging Company of Cowichan Lake, for breach of a verbal agreement regarding the lease of a tractor used in logging operations at Goldstream.

In an oral judgment Mr. Justice Macdonald commented that written contracts were preferable to oral arrangements in regard to business matters. He denied the plaintiff's claim that 383,000 feet of logs had been ruined as a result of the Elco Company's repossession of the tractor. Officials of the defendant company had the right to assume that the Western Commercial would have made some effort to transport felled and bucked logs from the woods to market.

There had been a breach of agreement in regard to the leasing of the tractor. To repair the road sufficiently to allow removal of logs by truck would cost $500, which amount was allowed plaintiffs. In addition they were awarded $383, or $1 per 1,000 feet, for lower market prices of logs. A further $100 was allowed for damages. From this total of $983 must be deducted a debt of $122 admitted to be owed the defendant company. Costs were allowed less a set-off of costs on the County Court sale in regard to the deduction of $122.
